WOULD-BE-SUICIDE ARRAIGNED IN COURT

Geo. Piskopanis Charged With Assault With Intent to Rob—Case Continued—Young Couple Sentenced—Other Cases

George Piskopanis, the young man who attempted suicide at his home in Market street about two weeks ago, was released from the Lowell hospital yesterday afternoon and when arraigned in police court this forenoon on two complaints charging him with assault with intent to rob and larceny, he entered pleas of not guilty. At the request of Supt. Welch the case was continued until June 10, when the defendant will be brought into court with his companion, Peter Apostolakos.

Mary Linehan, who has quite a court record, was ordered committed to jail for four months for drunkenness and appealed. She said that she never again

EXPECT ANSWER FROM GEN. CARRANZA TODAY

Upon His Message Hangs Immediate Scope of Diplomatic Endeavor to Bring Order Out of Chaos in Mexico—Mediators Resume Conference

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Carranza learned today as the crux in the mediation situation. Upon his message to the South American envoys hung the immediate scope of diplomatic endeavor to bring order out of chaos in the southern republic. The note was expected definitely to determine whether mediation were to be confined to the dispute between Huerta and the United States or to include the entire problem of Mexico's pacification, with the constitutionalists represented at the Niagara conference.

Carranza at Durango was in communication by telegraph with his agents here until late in the night. They transmitted to him the note of the mediators in reply to his message expressing "astonishment" that the Niagara proceedings had been started without constitutional participation. It was believed Carranza's answer would reach here today.

Lind Called to Conference

Constitutionalist agents declined to give out the contents of the note from the mediators and they would not reveal what took place in exchanges with their chief. Their communication was interrupted to give them opportunity to talk with their counsel and at one time John Lind was called into the conference.

Administration chiefs were hopeful that the way might be cleared for the constitutionalist leader to enter the conference so that all of the elements now figuring in the southern republic's plight might be brought together to discuss terms of restoring peace.

Secretary Bryan reiterated that mediation was "progressing favorably." Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department was to take up with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan today the report from Mexico City that Huerta had ordered his minister of war to send federal garrisons to Tampico to halt shipments of arms for the constitutionalists said to be en route from New Orleans. Mr. Roosevelt had stated that no orders had been sent to American naval commanders as to treatment of the steamer Antillia said to be carrying ammunition for Carranza when she appeared in Mexican waters. That was regarded as an answer to the query as to whether American warships would give protection to Antillia if Huerta gunboats attempted to overhaul her.

Previously, however, it had been generally understood that Rear-Admiral Badger had been informed by the navy department that the Washington government desired that there be no interference with navigation at Tampico. In some quarters it was asserted that American ships could not interfere with any blockade by Huerta without violation of the armistice.

MEDIATORS ARE STILL

WAITING FOR CARRANZA

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 4.—While waiting to hear from General Carranza whether he would send delegates to the conferences here, the mediators planned today to continue such work as would not be affected by the constitutionalist answer.

The peace plan on which the two sets of delegates have been working for two weeks has been only partially completed. Much of the work will be of value even if the constitutionalists decide to enter the negotiations. The mediation colony is absorbed, however, in the constitutionalist phase of the Mexican problem. The feeling is general that the attitude taken by General Carranza in his reply probably will shape the entire course of the mediation hereafter and perhaps have a direct effect upon the Washington government's future policy toward the two factions in Mexico.

Those who have seen the mediators note to the constitutionalists say it is so phrased that they can find therein a dignified way of entering the negotiations notwithstanding their previous objections.

PEKIN, China, June 4.—"White Wolf," the Chinese brigand who during the past few months has devastated the provinces of Hu-Peh, Ho Nan and Shen Si, is now looting and burning towns and villages in the provinces of Kan-Su.

After eluding the troops sent to capture him by the Chinese government yesterday set fire to the town of Ning Chow, and his followers today attacked Tao Chow in the extreme south of the province, and after pillaging the inhabitants burned it to the ground.

The brigands then proceeded to Cho Ni, where they set fire to the famous monastery of the Tibetan Lamas.

Subsequently a column of regular troops overtook and defeated the bandits who fled to the ravines of Li mountain, 100 miles to the south of Lanchow, where they are reported to be virtually surrounded by troops.

PRES. SULLIVAN

Head of Bay State St. Ry. Sees no Reason for 5 Cent Fare

BOSTON, June 4.—Pres. Patrick F. Sullivan of the Bay State Street Railway company, speaking before members of the United Improvement association at the Boston City club last evening, declared that 26 street railway companies in this state paid no dividends last year and that all are facing a serious situation.

This, he said, is due to two causes, the first being that nearly every company was built in unprofitable territory, some of which would not pay if the fare were increased to 10 cents, the second the 5-cent fare unit, with privileges of transfer, which he characterized as one of the greatest failacies of the business.

"It is safe to say," began Mr. Sullivan, "that transportation today is the lowest element in the so-called high cost of living. Transportation, particularly in street railways, has decreased in cost. Since they are tied up with the public interest their capital has passed from the control of the investors. It is looked upon differently from capital invested in private enterprises. There is no reason why there should be a difference in attitude. Because of it street railway companies find it difficult to get money for essential improvements."

He said that street railways in this state have taken no account of depreciation, but now the public service commission insists that it must be charged to accounts.

"If the street railways of this state as a whole had charged 3 per cent of their physical value to expense, it would have amounted to $5,500,000," he said. "The net earnings last year were a little over $5,000,000. It would have wiped out every dollar of net earnings. When depreciation is charged in there will have to be an increase in rates of fare, or the companies will face a serious condition."

Declaring the 5-cent unit was made in the early days of short rides and light expenses, he said there is no basis for it today except the fact that it is a convenient coin.

He praised the courage of the men who put their money into Boston Elevated in the beginning, and said the organization of street railways has to be absolutely honest today. He said these men would have made more money by putting their money in savings banks.

Tuberculosis Camp of Lowell General Hospital Opened for the Season

THE TUBERCULOSIS CAMP, LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

The tuberculosis camp at the Lowell General hospital opened yesterday afternoon and 15 persons were on hand to take up their abode there for the summer and early fall months. About one-half of those who will take the cure are children, between the ages of 8 and 13 years. The rest are adults, and about evenly divided between men and women. The oldest person is 35 years old. The season will terminate the first week of October. The camp is free to those who are admitted. There is no charge for food or attention.

Quite a number of persons took the examinations held during the past week. Some were found not to have tuberculosis in any form. These were not granted admission and some others were considered to be in too advanced stages of the disease.

CHALIFOUX CORNER

UNTIL A MONTH AGO THIS STORE WAS FULL WITH THE APPROPRIATE THINGS FOR WINTER.

Strange enough the beautiful array of winter things is gone and now this great store is turned into a garden where the flowers of fashion and life are displayed. Is it not a pleasure to think that you can step into our store and see all the latest creations of prices within reach of everyone?

Broderick's orchid, No. Bill, Fri. eve.

IT WAS NOT A FIRE

But was a test of the sprinklers on the Chalifoux Store which took place this morning.

Many of those who passed the Chalifoux store this morning thought a fire was in progress, as water was flowing down the sides of the building. It was but a test of the sprinklers and judging from the volume of water sent into the street, they are all right. The store doors were locked while the exhibition was in progress.

Latest song hits, No. Bill, Fri. eve.

REWEDS FIRST HUSBAND

MRS. JENNIE MAY EATON-AINSWORTH

Mrs. Eaton, Last Fall Acquitted of Murder of Admiral Eaton, Remarries D. H. Ainsworth

BOSTON, June 4.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton's first husband was known as the Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph Henry Ainsworth.

Giles Eaton, who was tried and acquitted of the murder of the latter at Plymouth last fall, surprised her closest friends yesterday by her remarriage to her first husband, D. Henry Ainsworth, in Washington.

Eight years ago the Ainsworths were divorced in Illinois, and shortly after Mrs. Ainsworth became the second wife of Admiral Eaton.

Last fall, during her trial in Plymouth, Mrs. Eaton testified that her first husband's heavy drinking compelled her to earn her own living selling books and later caused the divorce.

It was rumored in Assumption's among neighbors yesterday that the marriage of the youngest of Mrs. Ainsworth's two daughters, Dorothy, would soon follow. Both Dorothy and June left for the south with their mother nearly three months ago, and since the former home of the late admiral has been closed up.

According to dispatches received here last night the marriage license was obtained by D. H. Ainsworth of Maricopa, Ariz., to marry June M. Eaton of Boston. Mrs. Eaton gave her age to the license clerk as 46 years.

When employed in the United States senate, prior to their divorce, Mrs.

Eaton and her first husband had been close friends.

Asked whether the daughters Dorothy and June knew of the wedding, Dr. Chambers appeared surprised and said: "I did not know there were any children."

VICTORY FOR COTTAGE OWNERS

SALISBURY BEACH ACT FOR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT GOES STEP FORWARD

BOSTON, June 4.—Representative Lester S. Abbott of Haverhill, speaking for the Salisbury cottage owners in the legislature a day or so ago introduced a bill for the constitutional amendment which would control the size of the Salisbury houses as originally planned by the legislature and give the cottage owners the protection they seek. The proposal to provide for an amendment has now gone to a third reading in the house having already been passed by the senate; the bill becomes law the legislature of next year will have to approve of it by a two-thirds vote and before it may receive the support of a majority of the electorate voting at the regular state election in 1915. The cottage owners feel optimistic owing to the success of their fight in the legislature up to the present.

Representative Abbott's speech in part follows:

"One of the things proposed amendment to the constitution will pass this house and take a reading at this time.

"This amendment is offered because of the decision of the supreme court last year declaring the Salisbury beach act unconstitutional, on the ground that the act permitting the taking by the right of eminent domain of more land than was necessary for the parks made that law unconstitutional.

"This amendment is offered because of the decision of the supreme court last year declaring the Salisbury beach act unconstitutional, on the ground that the act permitting the taking by the right of eminent domain of more land than was necessary for the parks made that law unconstitutional.

"The bill, which was introduced by Mr. Phillips, carried by Rev. W. George Mullin. The bill introduced was Miss Mary Gurney, a cousin of the bill, while the first man was John Rayball, a brother of the proposer. At the close of the session, a reception was held at the home of the bill's proposer and the guests included relatives from Hingham, Mass., and Cambridge. Mr. and Mrs. Bissell, who were the recipients of numerous gifts, left on a honeymoon trip to the south and upon their return they will make their home at 21 Ames street, this city.

PROTECT SHRUB LOBSTERS

NEW HAVEN, June 4.—Friends and foes of lobsters in Connecticut waters are to be pleased this season, according to the state fish and game commission, and violations of the law are to be rigorously prosecuted according to Senator John M. Chapman's report. The new system of the commission has been put into service, and upon their return they will make their home at 21 Ames street, this city.

TO OBSERVE SPANISH LAW

Magistrate Will Perform Civil Marriage Ceremony for Miss Willard and Kermit Roosevelt

MADRID, June 4.—Because Ambassador Willard desires to observe all the requirements of the Spanish law in respect to foreign marriages, the magistrate of the Buena Vista district will perform the civil marriage ceremony for Miss Belle Willard and Kermit Roosevelt on June 19. The American embassy is situated in the Buena Vista district, the most aristocratic section of the city.

When the minister of state learned that the ambassador desired to observe the Spanish law in this respect, he suggested the Justice should go to the American embassy, but as the embassy is beyond the legal control of the magistrate, being technically United States territory, a room has been fitted up in the magistrate's own residence where the ceremony will take place.

The formal witnesses doubtless will include Eduardo Dato, the Spanish premier, the Marquis of Lema, the minister of state, Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador in Paris, and Col. Roosevelt.

The religious service will take place at noon the next day in the chapel of the British embassy. The chapel is in a pavilion in the embassy grounds.

MILLIONAIRE INDICTED

JOEL M. FOSTER, POULTRY MAN HELD BY THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

MONROVIA, Ala., June 4.—Joel M. Foster, millionaire poultry man of Browns Mills, N. J., and son of the head of the International Correspondence school of Scranton, Pa., who was arrested here on January 7 on the charge of white slavery and held to await the action of the federal grand jury, was indicted by that body yesterday.

The indictment was on the evidence furnished them by Leffith M. Bradley, the 17-year-old stenographer of Phenixton, N. J., the alleged victim of the wealthy man.

This mere slip of a pretty girl with her father, Harry E. Bradley, went before the grand jury, on Thursday last, and both told their side of the case.

The indictment will no doubt come as a surprise to Foster, as it was curiously reported that the girl and her father had abandoned the idea of any prosecution.

In fact the bondsman of Foster here declared that no indictment would be returned. The defendant, after his arrest here, following a sensational trip to several southern cities with the girl, was jailed by the police and indicted by the county grand jury.

He failed to appear in the city court in answer to this charge and his bond of $500 has been forfeited. He will be rearrested on his appearance here.

The government claims that it has a strong case of violating the white slave act against Foster and that he will be prosecuted to the end.

Foster has engaged eminent attorneys who say that they are prepared to make a strong legal fight for their client.

C. M. A. C. MEETING

The regular meeting of the C. M. A. C. was held Tuesday night in the rooms in Pawtucket street and was largely attended. President Isidore Tendel occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted. Three new members were initiated. Messrs. Arthur Thibault, Athanase Desveaux and Arthur Hubert.

It was voted to hold the semi-annual communion Sunday, June 25, at the 7 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church and in the afternoon two parts in the parish which will be held in conjunction with the observance of St. John's day. It was also voted to donate a gold medal for the commencement exercises at St. Joseph's college.

Remarks for the interest of the organization were made by J. A. N. Chretien, Joseph Elié and the chaplain, Rev. E. J. A. Chajut. O. M. L.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The first change in photo dramas at the R. F. Keith theatre will take place this afternoon, when "The Master Mind," the most powerful melodrama of the present season, with Edmund Breese in the title role, will be shown.

Presentations of this absorbing play will be made afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, and they should receive the serious attention of every lover of the film drama as well as of persons who are not familiar with the art of telling things in the dramatic field, but who like well made drama.

The success of the Master Mind, conceived by our dubious photo players toward the ruin of their enemy, the district attorney and finally succeeds in arousing his anger and jealousy, and is about to crush the unsuspecting prosecutor when "Three Arm Fanny," who has really fallen in love with her husband, pleads with the Master Mind to withdraw. The appeal is effective, for the Master Mind so loves this woman that he respects her wish, and disappears. We see no more.

The powerful gang of crooks, ever which he held a formidable position, is disbanded and the other characters, not knowing that Fanny is a reformed crook, goes on in his own way, and eventually becomes governor of the state.

In addition to the big feature there will be other films shown, including the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, stereopticon views of well known scenes and songs. A string orchestra will furnish music. The house, with its cooling system in operation, makes the most comfortable theatre in the city. Good seats may be obtained for 10 cents, although a few will be reserved at 15 cents. Children admitted for five cents. The show begins at 2 and 7:15 p. m., respectively.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Women patrons of the Merrimack Square Theatre should avail themselves of the unusual opportunity of seeing "Fanny," which he offers to the first 100 ladies attending the matinees today or Friday, a reserved seat for the minimum price of 10 cents, providing they present at the same time the coupon attached to the advertisement which appears in the paper. The play, "The Ironmaster," is admittedly the best dramatic offering that local followers of stock have enjoyed in seasons. It offers unusual opportunity for excellent work on the part of those engaged in the cast, and all come up to the fondest expectations of their

LADY LOOKABOUT

Of all the acts of thoughtlessness which are charged up to automobileists, perhaps one of the most glaring is that of bringing a machine to a stop and leaving it for some time directly beside a white post. When a car stops, all the wagon and machine traffic behind it is brought to a standstill until it or the standing automobile are again started. During the hours of heavy traffic, this condition is very marked, as our city streets are too narrow to admit of the passage of a second vehicle between the car tracks and the curbing. As it is practically impossible to widen the streets, it would seem that the only other course left is to so regulate traffic that a vehicle will not stop where it is known that a car is very likely to stop.

The Good Librarian

I have just come across, in my reading, a list of specifications for a good librarian or assistant librarian, and I suppose that means any person who attends to the wants of the subscribing public, which I am going to pass along, trusting that it may fall on fertile soil somewhere.

A good talker on any subject, whether she knows it or not.

Cheerful, with a sense of humor.

A good disposition, but not an easy mark.

A good mixer.

Tolerably good looking, but not too good-looking.

Doesn't mind the weather, nor any discomfort.

Diplomatic.

Well educated if possible, but must seem so at any rate.

Not pretentious.

No chip on shoulder.

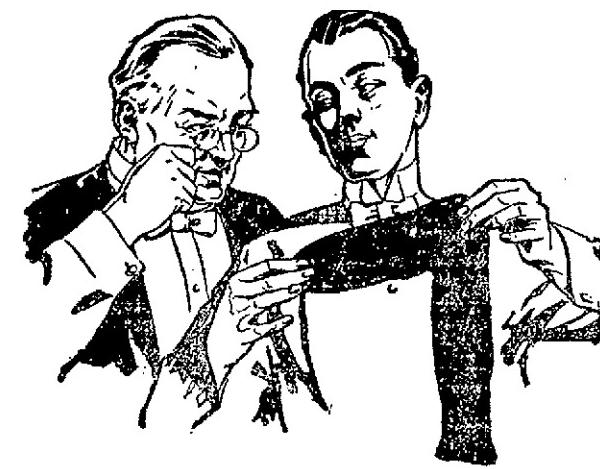

A hard worker.

Worthy of Imitation

There is an organization in Boston whose purpose could well be adopted in Lowell. It is the Boston placement bureau, and its aim is to place children who leave school in positions for which they are mentally, physically and temperamentally fitted. Eight hundred and sixty-three Boston children were placed in positions last year. The bureau followed up these children and found that 95 per cent of them made good. There is an excellent field for work of this nature in Lowell where so many of our children do not complete the elementary school course. Apart from the service it would render to self most of all, not excluding the Rodey Venus. But on the other hand, it is about time that the Englishman awoke to the fact that there is something wrong, radically, fundamentally wrong with his scheme of things, also his womankind would not feel obliged to go about doing deeds of violence. Does it not seem that Sherlock Holmes might unerringly walk up to the weak, bad spot in England's snug complacency, and accomplish its removal without lynching or violence of any kind?

THE ROYAL THEATRE
"War in Mexico," which will be shown at the Royal, at 438 Merrimack street, on Friday and Saturday, is a true photographic record of the events that happen every day in Mexico. Three reels of descriptive events that surrounded the attack at Vera Cruz, the Mexican troops in action, the American "Jackies" at peace and at war, attacks on land and sea and many other events. Every American will love to see his fighting boys as they look in action and otherwise. Meditative measures are being taken, and no doubt a mutual understanding will soon be reached, and it is more interesting to see war pictures now than ever.

Besides these three instructive reels of photographic presentations, the show at the Royal for Friday and Saturday will contain many new and attractive features direct from the General Film teleuses, first shown in this city, a show worth the price of admission alone besides the big feature advertised. It's always cool and comfortable at this enterprising theatre, and you can rest assured of your money's worth at any time.

LANGLEY'S FOLLY FLIES ON SHORT TRIPS, JUSTIFYING INVENTOR

TWO VIEWS OF LANGLEY'S FOLLY THAT NOW FLIES.

HAMMONDSFORTH, N. Y., June 4.—(nre.) Mr. Curtiss explained that the short flights with Langley's Folly, the result of preliminary tests and that no off-airship constructed more than a decade ago by the Washington scientist, at all the motor was adjusted. The boy whom the world smiles over his failure of the machine with its present overload of nearly 350 pounds has convinced Mr. Curtiss that a more powerful modern motor or modern propellers would make an extended flight possible immediately, but he and the representatives of the Smithsonian Institution are anxious to have the original equipment tested thoroughly before any changes are made. Mr. Curtiss says that when the motor and machine are tuned up to concert pitch he believes extended flights may be made.

EMPEROR SURVIVOR TALKS

CLAYTON R. BURT SAYS HE PUT LIFE PRESERVER ON MRS. IRVING.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 4.—I myself put a life preserver on Mabel Hinchey, the wife of Laurence Irving, the English actor, just before she sank to death with her husband," said Clayton R. Burt of Toronto, Canada, one of the survivors of the empress of Ireland, in an interview yesterday in this city.

Mr. Burt was in the first train load of survivors to reach Quebec from St. John's. He immediately went to St. Johnsbury, Vt., to the home of his mother, where his wife, a former Providence girl, met him. He came to Providence to leave his wife with her brother, and today he will start again for England.

Mr. Burt says he spent an hour and a half with the savings scuttling the iron-mud deck of the Empress of Ireland, the night before she went down. He ran into them again a few hours later, after the Empress had been rammed by the Steamer, helped them find life preservers and himself put a preserver on Mrs. Irving, who was, he says, half mad with fear.

"After I had the preserver on Mrs. Irving, whom Irving had to hold so I could fasten it, he and I started to eat on preserves. I saw him putting on his, and I had mine all on but not fastened, when the steamer seemed to break amidships and I went down—it seemed as if I sank into the water up to 40 feet. I never saw the Irving again."

Burt was awakened when the ship collided by a plate falling on his head from the top of his wardrobe. He pulled on his trousers, put on an overcoat, and got his watch and money before he left the state room. He saved both watch and money.

Mr. Burt is a mechanical engineer now with a firm in Toronto, Can. He was formerly with the Brown and Sharp Co. in Providence, for 11 years.

FIGHT OVER $800,000 ESTATE
BOSTON, June 4.—In the superior court yesterday before Judge King and a jury began the trial of one of the most interesting will contests ever known in Suffolk county. It is over the will of the late Benjamin W. Parker of Waltham, a wealthy insurance broker on Central street, Boston, who left about $800,000 to his brother, Clark Parker. He died Dec. 12, 1906.

Dr. Frederick P. Gay, a former Boston physician, now a professor in the University of California, a nephew of Benjamin W. Parker, is trying to break the will. He was left only $600.

CAPT. CHEAPE, ENGLISH POLO PLAYER,
LOST SISTER IN SEA DISASTER

CAPTAIN CHEAPE

Captain Leslie St. George Cheape, veteran of two international polo matches and who will probably play No. 1 on Baron Wimborne's challengers, is the man most feared by the American team. He is one of the hardest hitters in Great Britain and drives the ball with great accuracy. The fact that both he and Captain Barrett will play together again means trouble, as they are very clever at team work and play a fast, slashing game. The picture shows Cheape just about to mount a pony before practice at Meadowbrook, N. Y. He lost his sister in the great sea disaster in the St. Lawrence when the Empress of Ireland was sunk, and his hardship has aroused great sympathy and esteem in this country.

PAST PRESIDENTS, A.O.H.

FORMED SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL PURPOSES—LOWELL MEN ENROLLED

A short time ago some of the leading Hibernians in this section of the country conceived the idea of forming a Past Presidents' organization, including in membership all who have at one time or another served in the capacity of president of any division. Accordingly such an association was founded, and is making great strides. Its object is purely social, its founders aiming at creating a feeling of good fellowship among the heads of the various Hibernian in all sections of the country in touch with each other. Though yet in its infancy, such an organization may eventually be a great power in Irish and particularly in Hibernian circles.

The entertainment concluded with tables in which Mrs. H. G. Tracy, Mrs. McMurtry, George Williams, Frank Loomis and others appeared. During the performance there was music by Cushman's orchestra.

The presidents of the local divisions in the organization. Many prominent Hibernians from all over the state were present and throughout the afternoon matters of great interest in Hibernian circles were discussed.

The meeting was called to order by President P. H. Concannon, Division 13, Waltham. In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Thomas J. Kelly of Watertown, who was detained by illness in his family, John P. Sheahan, president of Division 2, this city, was elected temporary secretary. The first business transacted was the election of officers. It seemed to be the unanimous wish of all present that Daniel T. Murphy of Lowell was the first speaker, going into the early history of the Hibernian order in this part of the country and relating his own share in bringing about many reforms in its methods of holding conventions. James O'Sullivan also spoke at a reinfective vein, relating many anecdotes of old times. In Lowell with special reference to the part played in them by the local members of Hibernianism. Daniel O'Connell of Newton made a very stirring address calling the attention of his audience to the industrial needs of Ireland and expressing the hope that when home rule is assured, the Irish people in America will still support the old land movement and generally. The money that was given to poor Ireland in the past is said to be used in the future to develop building up the industries of the country. He also urged his audience to occasionally call for Irish-made goods as a practical way to support the people instead of in May as formerly. After the transaction of the routine business the meeting was given over to a social session, including dinner. All refreshments were provided by Mr. James O'Sullivan, and before the close of the meeting he was given a rising vote of thanks for his generosity.

viving industries of Ireland. Brother Gavin of Watertown called attention to certain abuses in convention methods and expressed a hope for their eradication. He lamented the fact that delegates to conventions are not always elected on their merits, but owing to certain insidious moves by those anxious to take the place. He hoped the local delegates to the general convention would avert the cutting down of expenses as much as possible, others who spoke briefly were Brothers O'Halloran and Cahill of Watertown and Brother Patrick McNamee of this city.

Those who were enrolled in the society at Sunday's meeting were: James Walsh of Cambridge and the following from Lowell: Daniel J. Murphy, Div. 2; Padel F. Reilly, Div. 8; Thomas J. Lynch, Div. 2; John P. Sheahan, Div. 2; Dennis F. Lynch, Div. 2; Hugh B. McGroarty, Div. 28; John J. O'Neil, Div. 2; John J. Murray, Div. 8; John C. Rourke, Div. 8; Michael Byrne, Div. 8; and John F. WORLD FAMOUS PAINTING MAN GOT NINE MONTHS

DeMareau's "Village Blacksmith"
is on Exhibition at Chalifoux's
—Wonderfully Realistic Picture

The modest announcement of the J. Chalifoux Co., that the public is invited, without cost, to visit the exhibition, at its establishment, of H. DeMareau's world-famous painting "The Village Blacksmith," which will be on display until June 12, might possibly escape the notice of many a busy man and woman, and thus lose to them the opportunity of a lifetime if no further mention were made of the painting, and hence The Sun gratuitously calls further attention to the wonderful offer of the Chalifoux company, urging with all the emphasis at its command that every man and woman, and every child old enough to appreciate art, shall visit the Chalifoux establishment and inspect this superb masterpiece, to see the like of which those who can afford it have travelled across the ocean and spent great sums of money. For thousands of our people it will be the one opportunity of their lives to inspect a masterpiece of art.

Many years ago another masterpiece was brought to Lowell, the picture of the meeting of Mary, Queen of Scots and Rizzio, and it was exhibited in old Mechanics hall, over 12,000 persons paying an admission fee to view it. Nothing like it had ever been seen in Lowell and nothing since until today when another world-famous painting is offered for public inspection without the customary price of admission, on a subject even more difficult to portray, and taken from the life around us.

A work of art is said to be perfect in proportion as it does not remind the spectator of the process by which it was created and the spectator upon leaving the elevator on the third floor of the Chalifoux building fails with surprise upon beholding an old blacksmith hard at work at his forge amid an environment of house furnishings, diapers, etc.

It takes a second thought to remind the beholder that he is not looking upon a reality, but upon a celebrated painting. As he draws nearer the impression of reality still remains with him, almost baffling; what he knows to be the truth. In the rear of an approach of sombre-hued walls with hidden lights hanging down the work of art the spectator looks upon an elderly man with silver hair and beard, clothed in the simple attire of the blacksmith, the widow white with the other he pushes his tongs gripping a bit of molten iron into the flames, causing them to burst forth into a shower of white tongues, in striking contrast to the vivid red of the molten iron. The white heat of the flame is reflected upon his pale face and silvered locks while the red firelight gives a rosate hue to his powerful arms, lighting up the great muscles and veins that stand out like white whips. The words of Longfellow immediately are recalled:

"The smith, a mighty man is he,
With large and sinewy hands,
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands."

Grouped about him are all the implements of his craft, from the old wheels standing in confusion against the wall, and the anvil with hammer laid upon it, just behind him, to the broken tubs of water beside the forge in which are the iron bars that are being cooled after having been shaped while at one end endeavored to sell it. After much parleying, it was finally sold to Donat, a Parisian for $2500, who entered it at the Grand Salon, where it received a bronze medal and a gold medal, distance granted old blacksmith hard at work at his forge amid an environment of house furnishings, diapers, etc.

At the time of DeMareau's death he was heavily in debt, owing 100 francs even to the blacksmith for his services as a model. The blacksmith, anxious to secure what was due him, called upon the widow and informed her of the existence of the picture, and she at once endeavored to sell it. After much parleying, it was finally sold to Donat, a Parisian for $2500, who entered it at the Grand Salon, where it received a bronze medal and a gold medal, distance granted old blacksmith hard at work at his forge amid an environment of house furnishings, diapers, etc.

When it was brought to America it was first exhibited in Wanamaker's in Philadelphia. It has since been exhibited in that city five times. It has traveled over 70,000 miles and has been seen and enjoyed by over 12,000,000 people.

This superb example of artistic skill, the masterpiece of a genius, is now exhibited in the Chalifoux store in the same manner as it was shown in the Grand Salon in Paris, and other art galleries of the old world.

Ruskin says: "The names of great painters are like passing bells; in the name of Velasquez, you hear sounded the fall of Spain; in the name of Titian, that of Venice; in the name of Leonardo, that of Milan; in the name of Raphael, that of Rome." But in the name of the lamented De Mereau is sounded in elation tones, the dignity and power of honest till.

Everybody in Lowell should avail himself or herself of the privilege of inspecting this picture. The superintendent of schools or the teachers should arrange to have all grammar and high school pupils visit it. Many of them will never have a similar opportunity in their lives, young though they may be, while others in years to come will travel miles to see masterpieces of lesser degree.

IMMIGRATOR ARRIVES

NEW YORK, June 3.—Arrived steamship from Hamburg.

MILITANTS K. O. EDITORS

BELFAST, Ireland, June 3.—Suffragettes today committed serious assaults on the managing editors of two of the leading newspapers of Belfast which had expressed criticism of the militant campaign.

Two well dressed women, one of them very tall, went to the Belfast Telegraph office and were ushered into the editorial room. Without speaking a word, the larger woman walked straight up to Mr. Stewart, the managing editor, and with a swing from her fist knocked him out of his chair onto the floor. At the same time her companion swung her right and hurled a nail-studded bottle at his head.

The women then proceeded to the News-Letter office and made a similar attack on Mr. Anderson, managing editor of that newspaper. He will be confined to his bed for some time.

RESOLUTE WINS RACE

ASSOCIATE PRESS BOAT, GLEN COVE, L. I. June 3.—The yacht Resolute, owned by the flag officers syndicate of the New York Yacht club defeated Alexander Cochran's sloop Vanitie this afternoon in the second race preliminary to the selection of the America's cup defender. Starting just 12 seconds ahead of her rival at 12:16:30 Resolute finished about 55 seconds ahead in a race of 25 1/2 miles.

Although only a few lengths separated the boats at the finish the Resolute in reality won by a considerable margin since she received from her rival a time allowance of more than three minutes. The result today leaves one race to the credit of each contender, since the Vanitie won yesterday's contest by a margin of nearly 17 minutes. The unofficial time of the finish was:

FALL RIVER, June 3.—The tenth annual convention of the Massachusetts Liquor league opened here this afternoon. There were about two hundred delegates present from various cities and towns in the state, including Thomas J. Burke of Springfield, president of the Massachusetts league. The delegates were welcomed in turn by Mayor James H. Kay and John F. Dolan, the latter president of the Fall River Liquor Dealers' association. At this afternoon's session President Burke presented his annual report and the various committees were appointed. Among the reports to be presented will be that of the legislative agent, Edward H. Pinkham of Boston on legislative work at the state house in 1914.

As a result of the raid made by the police at 125 Cross street last evening Demetrios Stefos was committed to the Lowell jail for nine months on two complaints charging him with unlawfully keeping liquor with intent to sell and with keeping a house of ill fame; Charles Anapoulos was ordered to pay a fine of $10 for a statutory offense; Emma Mercier was placed on probation, and Ethel M. Parker, charged with leading a lewd life, was held until tomorrow morning so that her parents, who reside in Concord, N. H., could testify as to her conduct in the past.

Judge Pickman presided at the session this forenoon and when the above quartet was arraigned, all four pleaded guilty to the charges against them. Stefos stated that he had conducted the lodging house on Cross street for the past four months, a part of the time being in partnership with a fellow countryman. He came here over eight years ago and claims that he has worked in a local mill steadily ever since. He admitted that he had kept a house of ill repute for the past two or three months and also said that he had liquor on sale for the people he entertained. The court ordered him sent to jail for six months on the charge of keeping a house of ill fame and for three months for illegally keeping liquor on the premises.

Mrs. Emma Siercer testified that she came to Lowell from Manchester, N. H., a few weeks ago and visited all the local mills in an attempt to secure work and having hunted in vain for some time ran across a woman who directed her to this house on Cross street where she applied for a position as house girl. The woman said that she was given the position upon applying and that she had worked there a little over a week when arrested. She agreed that she had led an immoral life during her stay there. Mrs. Mercier claims to have two children in Manchester and upon promising that she would go back to the Queen City she was placed on probation.

The other girl, Ethel M. Parker, said that she was also taken into the house as a chamber maid but after she had been there a few days she realized the kind of place she was in. She claims that she never saw Ganley before yesterday noon.

The defendant claims that he spent a part of Monday afternoon with McLean and that he visited him in the cobbler's room in French street yesterday noon. Ganley said, "I was never asked that he sit down on the grass on the east side of the common and Ganley came behind him and attempted to steal his watch and money. McLean said that when he had turned over the watch and coin, the defendant struck him on the nose and put his hands in his pockets. He said that he never saw Ganley before yesterday noon.

McLean said that when he had turned over the watch and coin, the defendant struck him on the nose and put his hands in his pockets. He said that he never saw Ganley before yesterday noon.

MORGAN AND MELLEN THE NEW HAVEN ROAD

All members of the municipal council, with the exception of the mayor, went to Springfield today and they do not sit down to business until after the 300,000 or four points the men will shoot at it. The new regulations require that the battle sight shall be used. The regulations are as follows:

From the 200 yard point, 10 shots in one minute and a half, 300 yards, ten shots in two minutes, and in either case no time will be allowed for inserting the cartridge clips.

The individual is entitled to record for practice only three times a season and then his work must be done under the supervision of a capable and thoroughly qualified commissioned officer. No coaching will be allowed at the range.

If this year's government has made any improvement over the governments which it succeeded, it is not in the purchase of automobiles. Commissioner Brown claims that the requisitions for automobiles and the purchase of them have been irregular, but Mr. Brown is one of the party today.

Major Murphy was not at his office this morning, but his private secretary, Mr. John Cull, said that the mayor was not out of town. Mr. Cull was very positive that the mayor did not go to Springfield with the rest of the bunch.

It was stated that the party included Commissioners Carmichael, Donnelly, Brown and Morse; Fire Chief Saunders, City Solicitor Hennessy, and others—perhaps. The party went to two machines, the new Jeffry, recently purchased for the street department, and another.

It is alleged that the trip has to do with the purchase of an automobile for the chief of the fire department and Chief Saunders wants a Knox. Bills for an automobile for the fire chief were called for early in May and nothing was received, the Knox Co. included. The contract was not awarded, and the trip to Springfield today, it is stated, was made ostensibly for the purpose of buying a Knox machine. What authority a purchase could be made in this fashion will probably be required later.

New Shooting Regulations

There's to be a new target representing a man's head and shoulders, 100 feet distant in the rifle range, in front of City Hall. Mr. Peterson has informed Commissioner Donnelly that the new shooting regulations adopted by the state military authorities requiring the erection of a new target designated as target D. The commissioner told Capt. Peterson that he would install the target and see to it as soon as possible.

The putting up of the new target is surely necessary because of the changes in shooting. There is to be no more shooting off hand at 200 yards but instead there will be instruction practice and record practice.

Capt. Peterson stated very emphatically that the new target would not only help in a series of contests but in size and representing the shape of a man's head and shoulders. It would seem that this target is agreed to do it.

MORE BUILDINGS

Many Applications for Permits at the City Hall

A daily increase is being shown in the number of applications for building permits at the office of Commissioner Donnelly and the inspector of buildings at city hall. Besides the applications for new building permits, a fair rate of permits for minor repairs and alterations have been issued with, in the last day or two. Permits issued since the last were pulled in include the following: William E. Kershaw, dwelling, Foster street, corner of Franklin street. The building will be two stories in height and the estimated cost is $2500.

A small carriage has been granted a permit for alterations to a building at 164-1/2 Franklin street. The alterations will include the putting in of new store windows, frames and plate glass fronts at an estimated cost of $1000.

Edmund Bellinger will make additions to his building at 742 Court Street to the extent of about $1000. The changes will include the putting in of a store and addition to the front of the building.

John F. Foy will make a one-family house over into a two-family house at 12 Franklin street. The plan call for two rooms and a bath on each floor and a partition in the front hall to form separate entrances. The estimated cost is $2000.

Walter Bassett will build a new dwelling house at 150 Franklin Avenue. The building will be 22 by 38, two and a half stories and the estimated cost is $2200.

CARMACK AMENDMENT

SEN. CUMMINS URGES CHANGE TO HOLD R.R. LIABLE FOR LOSS TO SHIPMENTS

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Senator Cummins' proposal that the Carmack amendment to the inter-state commerce committee law be rewritten so as to hold railroads liable generally for loss of shipments during transit was before the Senate today. In explanation of his bill Senator Cummins told the senate that the supreme court had held recently that the Carmack amendment making initial railroad carriers liable for loss of shipments had annulled all state laws on liability for damage to interstate shipments. As a result the railroads had proceeded to limit the liability to the value stated in the bill of lading. He asked for the passage of the law requiring railroads to pay the actual loss suffered by shippers except where the shipments were wrapped or the inter-state commerce committee had granted permission for the making of rates on value.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Joe Chick and Bill Fleming have been matched to meet in a fifteen round fray at Mariaville, R. I., on next Monday night. These two welters should give the fans of that town a run for their money for both men are rugged performers who prefer to mix it rather than box.

Battling Levinsky will tackle Jack Davies in a New York ring Saturday night and looks to be up against something hard. Davies put Al Benedict away in a pair of rounds not long ago and Benedict is a powerful antagonist. Levinsky will know that he's been in a rumpus before the affair is over.

Most of the smaller boxing clubs in New England have closed their doors for the summer months and will not reopen again until the cooler weather comes around in the fall.

It looks now as though George Chip would follow in the footsteps of other American exponents of the squared ring and turn his face toward the Antipodes. His manager, Jimmy Dime, states that he is going to convince the Australians that Chip is still the world's best at the middle-weight limit and will then bring him back and stake him up against anybody at all. Well, Eddie McGoorty seems to be doing a great business over there.

Freddie Yelle, the Taunton lightweight who created such a favorable impression everywhere that he boxed continuing his winning over across the water. In his first fight on foreign soil Saturday night Yelle knocked out Marcel Dennis in the 13th round of what was scheduled to be a twenty round affair.

There is some talk of Mike Gibbons meeting Kid Graves in a Rhode Island ring within the next two weeks but it may be all talk. Certainly it is that Michael will have to be shown the real long green before he consents to get in shape for a bout. The promoter could find many easier opponents for the St. Paul draw at New London Tuesday night.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Spraw, playing third base for Brockton and Parry, Taunton's backstop, are both going kindly in the Colonial league. Spraw has no string of them now, however, for a Class B club is his option over a full player associated with organized ball.

The greatest disappointment in the Colonial team has been Eddison, of Boston. He did not win as much as was expected. It is not when so much was expected. It is not so much that Eddison has not won as one of the leading pitchers of the team, Charlie, is only a youngster, about 22 years old, and although quite stocky is very short built, something on the lines of Eddie Cicotte of the White Sox, although not quite as heavy.—Lynn News.

We are glad to hear that this Charlie is not like Eddie Cicotte in every particular. He is a pretty fair pitcher when his teammates are ahead.

The one big and joyful surprise handed the St. Louis fans this season is Branch Rickey. A lot of fun has been made of Rickey because of his radical ideas. The best stunt he pulled was to warn his pinch-hitters that they were not first advanced by him.—Lawrence Sun.

Yes, brother, we agree with you. Although Arthur Cooper is a fine player personally he is altogether too busy to attend properly to his job.

Young Ellerby was a member of the Chicago White Sox. Carlo acted as batman in the year Carlo did an excellent work for the invention club, and was thought of around the circuit.

Ellerby is on the trail of a good pitcher and will give the little fellow a chance.

Rickey has made almost a great player. Gus Williams has not made an error yet this season while he is out hitting Cobb, Gandy and other hard hitters. Rickey has put spirit in the team and he has the boys with him.

Rickey has made a practice of holding morning meetings. Little or nothing occurs in which the plays of yesterday's games are discussed.

Recently his players convened in the clubhouse at the appointed hour—10 o'clock—only to find the manager missing. They waited patiently for 15 minutes without Rickey making his appearance. Then the tip was received that Rickey was out on the field talking to the ground-keeper.

A committee of three immediately was appointed to ascertain the reason for Rickey's tardiness. Bert Shatto, Del Pratt and Clyde Ware were the committee. They went and found Rickey, loaded him on their shoulders, carried him to the clubhouse, deposited him in a swivel chair with this admonition: "There's where you belong." The meeting was held as per schedule. Owner Hedges allows that Rickey is the best manager he ever had. He ranks Jim McAleer as the second-best manager, but believes Rickey is the Moses who will lead the Browns out of the brushfires of last place.

Once more Lawrence has been made the goat and it is time that Secretary Arthur D. Cooper of the New England League handed in his resignation and gave the job to a live man.

For two days in succession Lawrence has been given a shoo eye by the umpire and while possibly the result of either game did not hinge on the umpire's work, still it is a well-established fact among baseball fans that a poor umpire is better any day in a poor team than a player-umpire.

Aleck Pearson has been doing the last two days and his anxiety to do justice to the visitors and not to thought partial by the fans has made him give some decisions that were particularly bad. Far be it from us to question Aleck's honesty for the very fact that Aleck allowed him to umpire the game alone Monday shows how the old veteran stands, but he is too conscientious.

Chaper should have nippes at every game or know the reason why and while there may be an excuse on one day there is no reason why it should happen two days in succession and Manager Pleper is justified in making a strenuous kick and the fans are also entitled to some consideration.

Secretary Cooper as four regular umpires, Doherty, Bannon, Hardy and MacLean and they are all rather bad. Good men could be secured for the money paid by Cooper and when we go back to the days of Rorty, Starford, Buckley and even Lanigan we hold up our hands in horror at the present attitude.

DIRECTOR OF NEW HAVEN LOST $40,000 IN YEAR

Wm. Skinner Never Made a Dollar on New Haven — Troubled Conditions Due to Inability to Properly Mortgage Property and Necessity of Disintegrating Properties to Comply With Laws, He Says

WASHINGTON, June 4.—William

Skinner, a director of the New Haven road, continued his testimony today at the resumption of the inquiry into the railroad's financial affairs.

Lewis Cass Ledyard and George F. Baker, directors, and George F. Minot, a former director, were waiting to testify. Mr. Ledyard will testify as a voluntary witness.

"Why did the directors make a report to the stockholders to the effect that the New Haven is marketable securities of the Billard company worth $10,400,000 when they were in reality of little value?" asked Chief Counsel Folk of Mr. Skinner.

"I took the word of the accounting department of the road."

"Have you no auditing committee on the board?"

"No, but we employ certified accountants."

"Do you not know that the accountants said they had not been able to determine the value of the securities?"

"I could not investigate all of these details. I accepted the report of the accounting department on the value of the securities."

"Did you know of the prayer from the PHS issued to create public sentiment?"

"Yes."

"To you think it was proper to try to influence public feeling by circulating literature purporting to come from the people when, as a matter of fact, it was sent out by the railroad?"

"With all the hue and cry against the railroads they must create sentiment in their favor."

"You have a representative of the Pennsylvania railroad on the New Haven board and a representative of the New York Central," asked Mr. Folk.

"Yes, both roads are represented on it."

the New Haven board. The Pennsylvania is a very large stockholder."

"Do you think that interlocking directorates work in the public interest?"

"I think so, yes. We get a tremendous traffic from the Pennsylvania. I believe the public gets a better service by our working together."

"In other words, by creating a transportation monopoly?" suggested Mr. Folk.

"By no means. Such an arrangement creates no monopoly. It works for the betterment of both the roads and the public."

Mr. Skinner was questioned by William Nelson Cromwell appearing for several of the directors.

"What was the average attendance at the directors' meetings?" asked Mr. Cromwell.

"About 20, I think."

"Were not these various financial transactions brought before the board in a general way after details had been worked out by officials of the various departments?"

"These matters were presented in summary form by Mr. Nellen. He would make suggestions and give his views."

"Were these matters presented in writing and passed around at the meetings?"

"Some of them were."

"Were the decisions of the board in these matters generally unanimous?"

"Usually they were. If any serious objections were raised to any transaction, action was postponed."

"What brought about the troubled conditions of the New Haven?"

"Was not the necessity of disintegrating some of the properties acquired which under various laws the New Haven had to dispose of it after it had bought them?"

"That had a good deal to do with it."

"Were not the conditions also partly due to the lack of ability to properly mortgage the New Haven property?"

"They were."

In the course of his interrogation,

Mr. Cromwell developed that no mortgagor lies against the main line of the New Haven.

"You were not able to finance the New Haven as other large railroad systems usually are financed?"

"No, we were not. We were obliged to finance the system from year to year. Difficulties grew out of state laws and inquiries and public criticism."

"Your view is, therefore," suggested Mr. Cromwell, "that financiers found it impracticable adequately to finance the property on account of embarrassments created by laws and by investigations?"

"That certainly is true."

"The purchaser of trolleys and other properties, as I understand it," continued Mr. Cromwell, "were made with some other view than the material value at the time the properties were acquired. Was not the object to make permanent the New Haven system?"

"That is correct."

"You and other members of your family own about 10,000 shares of New Haven stock?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be one of the largest losers through the reduction in dividends."

"I have personally lost $10,000 in one year that way."

"Have you ever had any business dealings with the New Haven by which you have made any money?"

"I never had any dealings by which I made a dollar."

TO OBSERVE SPANISH LAW

Magistrate Will Perform Civil Marriage Ceremony for Miss Willard and Kermit Roosevelt

MADRID, June 4.—Because Ambassador Willard desires to observe all the requirements of the Spanish laws in respect to foreign marriages, the magistrate of the Buena Vista district will perform the civil marriage ceremony for Miss Belle Willard and Kermit Roosevelt on June 10. The American embassy is situated in the Buena Vista district, the most aristocratic section of the city.

When the minister of state learned that the ambassador desired to observe the Spanish law in this respect he suggested the Justice should go to the American embassy, but as the embassy is beyond the legal control of the magistrate, being technically United States territory, a room has been rented up in the magistrate's own residence where the ceremony will take place.

The formal witnesses doubtless will include Eduardo Dato, the Spanish premier, the Marquis of Lema, the minister of state, Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador in Paris, and Col. Roosevelt.

The religious service will take place at noon the next day in the chapel of the British embassy. The chapel is in a pavilion in the embassy grounds.

MILLIONAIRE INDICTED

JOEL M. FOSTER, POULTRY MAN, HELD BY THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

MOBILE, Ala., June 4.—Joel M. Foster, millionaire poultry man of Browns Mills, N. J., and son of the head of the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Penn., who was arrested here on January 7 on the charge of white slavery and held to await the action of the federal grand jury, was indicted by that body yesterday.

The indictment was on the evidence furnished him by Delilah M. Bradley, the 17-year-old stenographer of Pemberton, N. J., the alleged victim of the wealthy man.

This mere slip of a pretty girl with her father, Harry E. Bradley, went before the grand jury, on Thursday last, and both told their side of the case.

The indictment will no doubt come as a surprise to Foster, as it was recently reported that the girl and her father had abandoned the idea of any prosecution.

In fact the bondsmen of Foster here figured that no indictment would be returned. The defendant, after his arrest here, following a sensational trip to several southern cities with the girl,

The Rev. Dr. Samuel N. Watson, pastor of the American Protestant Episcopal church in Paris will perform the service.

The wedding party will proceed from the ambassador's house to the church in automobiles and gala carriages, among which probably will be one of the court equipages with a representative of the king of Spain.

The bride's dress will be of ivory satin and tulle, with a court train.

She will wear orange blossoms arranged with old lace and a long veil of tulle and lace. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Willard, will wear white satin with a tunic of pale blue tulle.

The bridesmaids, her serene highness, the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, Mademoiselle Gilone Le Veneurs De Tilliers and Miss Virginia Christian, will wear white tulle with tunics. All of them will wear lace with touches of yellow and yellow ribbons tied under the chin. They will carry bouquets of yellow orchids.

The wedding breakfast will be served in the American embassy and a reception, to which some thousands of persons have been invited, including the diplomatic corps and many officials and members of the highest Spanish nobility will follow.

SCENE FROM THE "MASTER MIND" WITH EDMUND BREESSE IN THE TITLE ROLE AT KEITH'S TODAY, TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

AMUSEMENT NOTES

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The first change in photo dramas at the H. F. Keith theatre will take place this afternoon, when "The Master Mind," the most powerful melodrama of the present season, with Edmund Breese in the title role, will be shown.

The government claims that it has a strong case of violating the white slave act against Foster and that he will be prosecuted to the end.

Foster has engaged eminent attorneys who say that they are prepared to make a strong legal fight for their client.

C. M. A. C. MEETING

The regular meeting of the C. M. A. C. was held Tuesday night in the rooms in Pawtucket street and was largely attended. President Isidore Trudeau occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted. Three new members were initiated, Messrs. Arthur Thibault, Athanase Gosselin and Arthur Hubert.

It was voted to hold the semi-annual communion Sunday, June 28, at the 7 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church and in the afternoon take part in the parade which will be held in connection with the observance of St. John's day. It was also voted to denounce a gold medal for the commencement exercises at St. Joseph's college.

Remarks for the interest of the organization were made by J. A. N. Chapman, Joseph E. Lee and the chaplain, Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I.

The story of "The Master Mind" follows: Planning to revenge the execution of his brother, whom the district attorney caused to be convicted, Richard Allen, a quaint individual, who takes delight in concealing his identity by playing the role of valet to an extravagant young man in New York, plots for the downfall of the prosecutor and educates his cleverest woman crook, "Three Arm Fanny," with a view to having her fascinate and marry the district attorney.

The Master Mind, under various disguises, informs the district attorney that he will receive the four cases at certain intervals, but that when he gets the two of spades alone, the end will be nigh.

"Richard Allen," known as the Master Mind, conceives many diabolical plots looking forward to the ruin of his enemy, the district attorney and finally succeeds in arousing his anger and jealousy, and is about to crush the unsuspecting prosecutor when "Three Arm Fanny," who has really fallen in love with her husband, pleads with the Master Mind to withdraw.

The appeal is effective, for the Master Mind so loves this woman that he discloses her wish, and disappears, to be seen no more.

The popular gang of crooks, over which she holds a formidable leadership, is disbanded and the district attorney, not knowing that Fanny is a reformed crook, goes on in his own way, and eventually becomes governor of the state.

In addition to the big feature there will be other films shown, including the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial stereoscopic views of well-known scenes and songs. A string orchestra will furnish music. The house with its cooling system in operation, makes it the most comfortable theatre in the city. Good seats may be obtained for 10 cents, although a few will be reserved at 15 cents. The shows begin at 2 p.m. on edes for the event and a great race is assured all who attend. Those holding skating checks may see the race free, while those who do not care to go on the surface may secure a reserved seat in the gallery for 10 cents. Mahan had declared Waltham Boston would be the first to hold a summer fader night but Gondron and his friends think otherwise. At any rate the contest is sure to provide unusual interest. It's always cool and comfortable at the Crescent rink.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Women members of the Merrimack Square theatre should avail themselves of the unusual offer made by Manager Carroll in which he offers to the first 100 ladies attending the matinees today or Friday, a reserved seat for the minimum price of 10 cents, providing they present at the same time the coupon attached to the advertisement which appears in the paper. The play "The Ironmaster," is admittedly the best dramatic offering that local followers of stock have enjoyed in seasons. It offers unusual opportunity for excellent work on the part of those engaged in the cast, and all come up to the fondest expectations of their ardent admirers. Next week the players will present "The Lottery Man," Cyril Scott's greatest comedy success. Telephone 2025.

THE OWL THEATRE

One of the biggest programs of the year has been booked for Friday and Saturday at the Owl when "The Perils of Pauline" will be shown. Don't miss this, it is the sixth—the last one to be released, and it will positively be shown for the first time in Lowell at the Owl.

The rest of the program contains many new features, including the three-part Warner feature, "The White Ghost," a mysterious drama; "A Moonlight Mystery," another feature, in two reels, telling a thrilling story of heart-interest and "Fatal Flirtation."

THE KASINO

What go races at a night in June at the Kasino? Thornhill will! Here one may find dancing under ideal conditions, with Miner's orchestra performing, and the Kasino standard always in evidence. Of course, there are large crowds present, but the Kasino is so spacious that there is never any crowding. Come up and get the Kasino sensation.

LADY LOOKABOUT

Of all the acts of thoughtlessness which are charged up to automobilists, perhaps one of the most glaring is that of bringing a machine to a stop and leaving it for some time directly beside a white post. When a car stops all the wagon and machine traffic behind it is brought to a standstill until it or the standing automobile are again started. During the hours of heavy traffic, this condition is very marked, as our city streets are too narrow to admit of the passage of a second vehicle between the car tracks and the curbing. As it is practically impossible to widen the streets, it would seem that the only other course left is to no regulate traffic that a vehicle will not stop where it is known that a car is very likely to stop.

The Good Librarian

I have just come across, in my reading, a list of specifications for a good librarian or assistant librarian, and I suppose that means any person who attends to the wants of the subscription public, which I am going to pass along, trusting that it may fall on fertile soil somewhere.

A good talker on any subject, whether she knows it or not.

Cheerful, with a sense of humor.

A good disposition, but not an easy mark.

A good mixer.

Tolerably good looking, but not too good-looking.

Doesn't mind the weather, nor any discomfort.

Diplomatic.

Well educated if possible, but must seem so at any rate.

Not pretentious.

No chip on shoulder.

A hard worker.

Worthy of imitation

There is an organization in Boston whose purpose could well be adopted in Lowell. It is the Boston placement bureau, and its aim is to place children who leave school in positions for which they are mentally, physically and temporally fitted. Eight hundred and sixty-three Boston children were placed in positions last year. The bureau followed up these children and found that 85 per cent of them made good. There is an excellent field for work of this nature in Lowell where so many of our children do not complete the elementary school course. Apart from the service it would render to was of the perfumery sort. Somehow, the joke did not appeal to him.

I wonder why?

Mr. Cosgrove confessed to stage fright when he arose to address the gathering. He ascribed the fright to the unusual beauty of the women present. Of course, we drew our own conclusions. Each of us looked at her neighbor, and you know how it is in such cases; no one thought Mr. Cosgrove meant herself. Evidently the gentleman considered our beauty of the frightful sort.

He spoke interestingly of suffrage, and gave the names of many of the leading men and women of the country whose names have long been associated with the equal suffrage movement, concluding by saying if these persons considered the cause legitimate he was willing to follow their lead.

Without going into detail with the speakers who plainly represented the various social walks, I concluded that movement backed by such clever, charming women, representing as they do our entire country and much of the outside world, and also built on a firm foundation of logic and reason, cannot be wrong, can not be wholly misplaced zeal. The earnestness, the seriousness, the honesty and above all the manifest womanliness of these women, make their appeal to the most utterly opposed. As one of them said:

"It is not opposition to the equal suffrage movement that we are fighting;

"we need a certain amount of that;
it is a dreadful and pernicious apathy which we are campaigning against."

This apathy may delay the adoption of equal suffrage but it will not defeat
it. For anyone who has followed the course of the cause is forced to admit that its adoption is inevitable, so get ready for it, gentlemen.

Sir Conan Doyle's Remedy

I have read with interest Sir Conan
Doyle's ultimatum in regard to the English militant suffragette. He would lynch her. He considers the granting of suffrage to the English woman an economic impossibility, because she outnumbers the English man two to one. I can understand this attitude in an Englishman. It has been the attitude of his country for centuries.

I do not attempt to defend the actions of the militant suffragette in England. She has gone beyond everything, and, poor thing, has hurt herself most of all, not excluding the Roxbury Venus. But on the other hand, it is about time that the English man awoke to the fact that there is something wrong, radically, fundamentally wrong with his scheme of things, also his womankind would not feel obliged to go about doing deeds of violence. Does it not seem that Sherlock Holmes might unerringly walk up to the weak, bad spot in England's snug complacency, and accomplish its removal without lynching or violence of any kind?

THE ROYAL THEATRE
"War in Mexico," which will be shown at the Royal, at Merrimack street, on Friday and Saturday. True photographic record of the events that happen every day in Mexico.
Three reels of descriptive events that surrounded the attack at Vera Cruz, the Mexican troops in action, the American "Jackies" at peace and at war, attacks on land and sea and many other events. Every night will be shown to his fighting boys as they go into action and others. Mechation measures are being taken, and no doubt a mutual understanding will soon be reached, and it is more interesting to see war pictures now than ever.

Besides these three instructive reels of photographic presentation, the show at the Royal for Friday and Saturday will contain many new and attractive features, such as the grand opening reels, all first shown in this city, a show worth the price of admission alone besides the big feature adver-can rest assured of your money's worth at any time.

The court ordered McAllister sent to the house of correction for six months and the girl to the Lowell jail for the same period. VERY BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

WOMAN BADLY HURT ON REVERE BOULEVARD—LOUIS H. WATTS ARRESTED

REVERE, June 4.—Miss Hilda Mugford, aged 25, of Elliot avenue, Readville, and Holzer W. Clausen of 22 Marlboro street, Belmont, were struck by an automobile as they were about to cross the boulevard near the corner of Chester avenue about 10 o'clock.

Miss Mugford received a bad cut over the right eye, a bruise at the base of the skull and it is feared her ankle is fractured. Mr. Clausen had his clothes almost torn off, but escaped broken bones. Both were sent to the Massachusetts General hospital where Miss Mugford is on the dangerous list. The automobile was driven by Louis H. Watts, aged 21, of 129 Clark avenue, Cambridge. He claimed that the couple stepped in front of the machine when he was so close that he was unable to stop. He was held by the metropolitan park police on a charge of operating an automobile in a reckless manner.

A number of complaints recently about the noise caused by automobiles opening their mufflers while climbing hills in that section.

Mr. Watts claimed that he had never met with any trouble in his home town and as he did not see any signs on Andover street regarding automobiles, he did not know that it was a violation of the law. He alleged that his motor was not working very good and he opened the muffler to let out some dirt.

Patrolman McCann testified that the muffler was opened for at least 100 feet, but said that he had no trouble in bringing the man to a stop and His Honor deemed it advisable to place the case on file.

ASSIST. SEC. MALBURN SAYS TREASURY DEPARTMENT WILL TRY TO FIND PLACES FOR BOSTON MEN

WASHINGTON, June 4.—In a letter to Senator Lodge yesterday, Ass't Sec. Malburn of the treasury said that an effort would be made by the department to find places in the near future for the five assistant weighers who recently were dropped from the force at the Boston custom house.

Representatives Peters, Thacher, Gilmore, Roberts, Gillett and Phelan spoke last night, "Massachusetts Night" at the session of the National Memorial Civil Rights Association of America, a negro organization. Mr. Peters spoke on "Negro Education."

Representative Mitchell yesterday took up with Gen. McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, protests against the proposed discontinuance of the 20 per cent reduction in steamship rates teachers going to Porto Rico have received.

Gen. McIntyre at once got into communication with the steamship companies and later informed Mr. Mitchell that the companies had agreed to continue the reduced rate.

CAPT. CHEAPE, ENGLISH POLO PLAYER, LOST SISTER IN SEA DISASTER

CAPTAIN CHEAPE

Captain Leslie St. George Cheape, veteran of two international polo matches and who will probably play No. 1 on Baron Winborne's challengers, is the man most feared by the American team. He is one of the hardest hitters in Great Britain and drives the ball with great accuracy. The fact that both he and Captain Barrett will play together again means trouble, as they are very clever at team work and play a fast, slashing game. The picture shows Cheape just about to mount a pony before practice at Meadowbrook, N. Y. He lost his sister in the great sea disaster in the St. Lawrence when the Empress of Ireland was sunk, and his hardihood has aroused great sympathy and esteem in this country.

MAYTORENA ARRESTED

been in New York, Connecticut and this state and after a few days here will proceed to New Hampshire and thence to Canada. From Canada he will go to the British northwest, thence down the Pacific coast into Mexico (assuming that the cruel war will then be over), and will conclude his American visit with an attempt to discover another river in South America. Since coming to America he has struck a bonanza through the Helms Press of New York, one of the largest Greek newspapers in this country. The Helms Press is getting out a Greek-American guide and directory and has employed Mr. Politis to solicit ads, etc., as he meanders along.

Mr. Politis' last abiding place in the old world was in Romania, whence he came direct to America. Last he was accused of "cheating" as a pedestrian.

Constitutionalists allied with the Pasquino faction say the feud is not between Maytorena and the military, but between Maytorena and the people of the state.

Public meetings have been held in several of the Sonora border towns during the last several days, it is stated, in which resolutions were adopted requesting Maytorena to call for the election of a state chamber of deputies.

When the terms of the members of the last state congress expired about a year ago Maytorena refused to call an election until the state was fully pacified.

The governor has not yet complied with the demands made by the border towns. Constitutionalists in Agua Prieta say that unless he calls elections of his own volition he will be forced to call them.

SUPERIOR COURT

The hearing of evidence in divorce cases was resumed at the jury waived session of the superior court this morning with Justice Sanderson presiding. About ten cases, all from out-of-town, which were not contested were presented and the defendant in each case with several witnesses were heard. In most of the cases a decree nisi was granted and the list will be ready for publication tomorrow.

This afternoon the court took up cases involving questions of law which are numerous on the list, most of them being in the line of arguments presented by counsel. In the civil case the case of Kalili vs. Jaynes Drug company of this city, is on trial.

PUT LIVE WIRE TO DYNAMITE

Four men killed by blast on road—Victims failed to notice that switch was on.

MONONGAHELA, Pa., June 4—Four men were killed and a fifth was injured, probably fatally, by an explosion of dynamite at a construction camp on the county road near here last night.

Four charges of dynamite had been placed in holes for blasting today. The men killed, all foreigners, were notified to connect the wires before going home. They failed to note that the battery switch had not been turned off.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

MERRIMACK RIVER FUTURE

The vote on the bill to appropriate one million dollars as the share of the state in the preliminary cost of making the Merrimack river navigable, as taken in the house of representatives, has two features especially gratifying to friends of the project. One is the negligible amount of opposition manifested and the other is the intelligent hearing that preceded the vote. It is difficult to conceive of any other measure of such magnitude better supported, with less adverse comment, and even the opposing views of Rep. Washburn were not based on alleged unlikelihood as much as on unrelated arguments. Mr. Washburn contended that such an appropriation for the Merrimack river saves $4 of taxation to the eastern part of the state to the expense of other sections. There is nothing in this argument calculated to give serious moments to friends of Merrimack river navigation, whether in the legislature or out of it.

Representative Essex S. Abbott of Haverhill emphasized a good point in favor of the appropriation when he said that throughout the Merrimack valley, there is practically no opposition to the improvement. Some indifference there is indeed, as is to be expected from the public in all such matters, but there is passive support in abundance of which the house had a telling sample. The cost, according to Rep. Abbott, will be considerable, but the people of the region affected will not complain, realizing that the benefits to industry will not be long in overwhelming the preliminary expense.

Representative Kenney of Boston who as one of the ways and means committee had occasion to look at the matter from all angles before he espoused the appropriation made a strong argument on the broad assumption that Massachusetts has done practically nothing to improve its waterways while other states are outstripping us continually. With tables of statistics and convincing figures he backed up his contention with other state records of expenditures besides, which the million voted by the Lowell legislative branch looks small indeed out of the $16,000,000 spent by this state in almost 100 years. $12,000,000 has been spent on Boston harbor and during the same time the state of New York has spent over $30,000,000.

Mr. Kenney also referred to the fact that in the Merrimack valley are 811 industries—which by the way looks like an understatement—employing 40,000 hands and consuming 125,000 tons of coal annually besides shipments of all varieties of raw products accomplished. Besides all these there mean a great boon to these industries and would tend to the creation of other industrial centers along the banks. If considers, yet all have their purpose and all have their share in conducting to Lowell as rapidly as to a more prosperous and progressive Lowell.

The city is now about to enter on a new era, and with the consciousness of a fresh start under some new officials the board of trade may look forward to a fruitful year. Great national reforms have been enacted without disturbing industry; business is probably native of the leaders of the Merrimack valley rally to the cause of the fell. Some people are urging caution, basing their stand on the lack of convincing evidence to prove that the scheme will be in reality a success of sufficient magnitude to overtake the cost. There is little cause for alarm, however, in the ranks of such a party, on this score, for the nation and all can unite on the well-known principles for which it was founded. Lowell first, last and all the time, and before the innumerable we yet open to all Massachusetts. Washington will have its central office, the plan is not that of an impractical visionary. It is to the best interest of Massachusetts to appropriate the sum required for the cause, if not sufficient to the clamor. The report of the committee has not been made public, but the endorsement of the experts.

POSTAGE RATES

The great party of the nation-wide campaign for lower postal rates takes the lead in the movement of commerce, the legislature of the state of Massachusetts, which Governor Walsh sent to the legislature a day or so ago, for at the outset the chief executive warns the public that unless there is speedy legislation, the result will be "a financial catastrophe." Whether the proposed reorganization lies in the system of the post office or in the state of the railroads, it is difficult to say. It is, however, clearly in its statement of fact, that many of its provisions will be effective only if the people are shown the real facts in the case by intelligent campaigns of publicity. In the main point, for instance, which proposes that the question of whether the state should purchase the Boston and Maine stock or not be left to the voters of the commonwealth, there will be as many views as there are different views of the capability of the public generally to grasp what is involved in such a transaction. Yet it has been demonstrated that the railroads of this section cannot be prosperous under public criticism, and it may be well to give the people an opportunity to state their real desires with regard to the future of our railroads—that is providing they have any positive opinions on the matter.

That part of the governor's message which suggests legislation to permit the New Haven to dispose of the shares of the Boston and Maine now in its hands is in line with the recommendations of most serious students of the situation, and will meet ready sanction. What was done in this particular must be undone—and the sooner the better. Now that the federal government has spoken and that the governor has placed his views before the same source, and during the past week many forest fires were reported from different parts of the state, due to the lighted match or stub carelessly thrown aside. On this subject one may expect to threaten and warn to little purpose, for while men and boys are thoughtless we will have fires as a result of lack of care. One can only call attention to the danger frequently and hope that in time the public may become aroused to the danger of this fruitful source of fires.

SEEN AND HEARD

Every day is a memorial day to following instruction to the jury erroneous: And I further charge you in this case that the loss of ability to labor is pain and suffering." To support its position the court cites Powell v. Raiload Co., 77 Ga. 192, 200, 3 S. E. 757, in which it was held that the loss of ability to labor is pain, and that a physical injury that destroys the power of a human being to labor is one of the most serious injuries that it is possible to inflict.

A PRAYER
Not more of light, I ask, O God,
But eyes to see what is;
Sweet songs, but power to hear
The present melodies.

NOT GREATER STRENGTH, BUT HOW TO USE IT
Not greater strength, but how to use
The power that I possess;
Not more of love, but skill to turn
A frown to a caress.

NOT MORE OF JOY, BUT POWER TO FEEL IT
Not more of joy, but power to feel
Its kindling presence near;
To give to others all I have
Of courage and of cheer.

GIVE ME ALL FEARS TO DOMINATE
Give me all fears to dominate,
All holy joys to know;
To be the friend I wish to be,
To speak the truth I know.

HAPPINESS IN LABOR

If we would follow the decision in city of Rome v. Ford (Court of Appeals of Georgia) 76 Southeastern Reporter, 215, to its logical conclusion, perhaps it would appear that "Weary Willies" and people in general who are afflicted with "hook worm" have been more sinned against than shamed. It is hard to change our mental attitude in this respect. Many and many a time we sat weary in a hot study office, dallying to keep up appearances, have we wondered what was the use of it all why not go back to nature like our friend, the "hooko." What wonderful pictures did we conjure up of ourselves, without a care in the world, self-sufficient, lying in the shade near a rippling Jenkins brook—when did it matter that the bristles on our feet would be more than enough to keep a goat for a week; we were free and could leap at work and never budge but now comes the court of Georgia, although in different circumstances and conditions entirely, and allows the following instruction to stand, "And I further charge you in this case that the loss of ability to labor is pain and suffering." The decision in its application, however, is probably right, and we would not disturb it. The court says:

CLUBBING A MISTAKE
In a suit against a mindfully fore-rever damages for personal injuries, where it was alleged and proved that the plaintiff, as a result of the injuries received, was unable to do his accustomed work and suffered great mental anguish and physical pain, it was hard to admit the following testimony of the plaintiff: "The fact that I have not been able to work and carry on my duties as I was accustomed to do before he worried me! Nor was the following:

MOSQUITOES

The Bath Times comments very favorably upon the efforts of the Civic Club of Portland to exterminate the mosquito in their breeding places. The Times editor writes: "It is remarkable that this method and he also knows that it is perfectly practical if the work is done thoroughly and on a sufficiently comprehensive scale.—Portland Express."

RICE AT WEDDINGS

Junes is traditionally the month of marriages. There are geomantic souls who have tried to prove by actual statistics that the number of weddings in June is no greater than that in some other months, but statistics are almost always dull and prosaic, whereas the month of June is singularly conducive to romance—to wedlock and no regrets. Hence the limitations of work, a caution to those who attend weddings. To those who attend weddings, the practice of throwing rice at bridal couples, thus endangering their eyes and those of the bystanders, is happily less common than was formerly the case.

Confetti has been generally accepted as an inexpensive and altogether sensible substitute for the piercing rice.—Manchester Leader.

GIRL CALLED OFF WEDDING BECAUSE FIANCE HAD A GLASS ARM

BOSTON, June 4.—"When I learned that Dominick Zalosky, my fiance, had a glass arm and couldn't embrace me," testified Eva Synekovich, yesterday in the South Boston district court. "I felt that he couldn't support me either physically or financially, and concluded to call the wedding off. I didn't steal anything from him, for I gave him back the engagement and wedding rings and, as for the money, $32, he forced it on me to buy clothes, and I accepted it. And he can have the clothes back, too, if he wants them," she asserted, as she concluded her testimony.

Dominick was not called in re-direct examination by Attorney Creed to repudiate the "glass arm" charge made by Eva, for he had already told of meeting her three months ago at a boarding-house on lower Broadway, and on the occasion of his second call upon her she promised to marry him. He made her quit work in the stocking factory and furnished cash for her laundry, as well as for the feast. He was corroborated by his sister, Mrs. Charles Rackett, of 365 E street, and other witnesses.

Judge Fallon decided that a case of larceny had been made out and sentenced her to three months in the house of correction.

But Eva's troubles did not end there, for she was also adjudged guilty of the larceny of $10 from her ladyship, Mary Bouleau, 115 Broadway, and a similar sum from the room of a boarder, Alexander Kowolsky. She was given a month on each, but appealed, her married sister of Norwood furnishing the $500 surely required.

TO BUILD UP THE TRADE

EX-MAYOR FITZGERALD URGES NEW ENGLANDERS TO "SAIL FROM BOSTON"

BOSTON, June 4.—Relative to the upbuilding of the foreign trade of New England by means of passengers sailing in and out of Boston ex-Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday gave out the following statement:

"As chairman of the foreign trade committee of the chamber of commerce I wish to call attention to the people of New England to the assistance that they can render to the movement to upbuild the foreign trade of New England by patronizing steamers sailing in and out of Boston.

"The agents of foreign steamers entering Boston complain of the lack of support given them by the New England traveling public. New York now enjoys a tremendous advantage in the number of sailings to about every port of the world. This is made possible largely because of the passenger lists. Boston's foreign trade can be immeasurably improved by more ships and more ships will come when New England will show loyalty to its home port. Hundreds of New Englanders have sailed from New York the past few months who would have sailed from Boston if a proper appeal had been made to them.

"Some of the finest ships in the world will sail from Boston in the next six weeks and it will rest largely with New Englanders themselves whether the port of Boston is to be on the map. Sail from Boston should be the gospel of every loyal New Englander."

WORLD FAMOUS PAINTING MAN GOT NINE MONTHS

DeMareau's "Village Blacksmith"
is on Exhibition at Chalifoux's
—Wonderfully Realistic Picture

The modest announcement of the J. L. Chalifoux Co., that the public is invited, without cost, to visit the exhibition, at its establishment, of H. De Mareau's world-famous painting "The Village Blacksmith," which will be on display until June 12, might possibly escape the notice of many a busy man and woman, and thus lose to them the opportunity of a lifetime if no further mention were made of the painting, and hence The Sun gratuitously calls further attention to the wonderful offer of the Chalifoux company, urging with all the emphasis at its command that every man and woman, and every child old enough to appreciate art, shall visit the Chalifoux establishment and inspect this superb masterpiece, to see the like of which those who can afford it have travelled across the ocean and spent great sums of money. For thousands of our people it will be the one opportunity of their lives to inspect a masterpiece of art.

Many years ago another masterpiece was brought to Lowell, the picture of the meeting of Mary, Queen of Scots and Rizzio, and it was exhibited in old Mechanics hall, over 12,000 persons paying an admission fee to view it. Nothing like it had ever been seen in Lowell and nothing since until today when another world-famous painting is offered for public inspection without the customary price of admission, on a subject even more difficult to portray, and taken from the life around us.

A work of art is said to be perfect in proportion as it does not remind the spectator of the process by which it was created and the spectator upon leaving the elevator on the third floor of the Chalifoux building halts with surprise upon beholding in the semi-darkened distance a grizzled old blacksmith hard at work at his forge amid an environment of house furnishings, draperies, etc. It takes a second thought to remind the beholder that he is not looking upon a reality but upon a celebrated painting. As he draws nearer the impression of reality still remains with him, almost baffling what he knows to be the truth. In the name of an appraiser numberless hands will be hidden behind backs, leaning deep on the work of art, the spectator looks upon an elderly man with silvered hair and beard, clothed in the rough leather of his craft, standing before a blazing forge holding with one great hand the handle of the Selloway while with the other he pushes his tongs gripping a bit of molten iron into the flames, causing them to burst forth into a shower of white tongue in striking contrast to the vivid red of the molten iron. The white heat of the flame is reflected upon his pale face and silvered locks while the red firelight gives respite to his power. Truly, he is up to the great masterpiece in every way that stands out like whiplashes. The words of Longfellow immediately are recalled:

"The smith is mighty man is he. With large and sinewy hands, And the muscles of his brawny arms Are strong as iron bands."

Gaped about him are all the implements of his craft, from the old wheel standing in confusion against the wall, and the anvil with hammer laid upon it just behind him, to the broken tubs of water beside the forge in which are the iron bars that are being cooled after having been shaped while at

Row on South Common

Some sort of a row occurred on the South common yesterday afternoon and as a result James F. Ganley was brought into court charged with assault and battery upon Bernard F. Meenan, who appeared with an ugly gash between his eyes which he claims was received by a blow from Ganley's fist. The stories told by the two concerned conflicted and Judge Pickman ordered the case continued till tomorrow for further investigation.

The complainant said that yesterday he met the defendant in a lunch room on South Common and when he walked out he started across the common the defendant followed him. The witness stated that he sat down on the grass on the east side of the common and Ganley came behind him and attempted to steal his watch and money.

Meenan said that when he refused to turn over the watch and coin, the defendant struck him on the nose and the defendant struck him on the nose and put his hands in his pockets. He said that he never saw Ganley before yesterday noon.

The defendant claims that he spent a part of Monday afternoon with Meenan and that he visited his complainant's room in French street "Yesterday evening," says Ganley.

In a lunch room on South street and saw Meenan there. He was drunk and was put out by the proprietor, and waited on the sidewalk until I came out. Then we walked onto the common together. We sat down with three other men and Meenan pulled out his watch and wanted someone to pawn it and Ganley and I tried to stop them. The court then ordered the case continued till tomorrow morning.

Other Cases

The case of George Head, charged with larceny of some chairs from Peter M. Murphy on December 1, was continued until tomorrow forenoon. Former E. Dearborn was taxed $8 for his second appearance for drunkenness and John McLean was asked to pay a similar sum.

At the time of George Head's arrest he was heavily in debt owing 100 francs to the blacksmith for his services as a model. The blacksmith anxious to secure what was due him called upon the widow and informed her of the existence of the picture, and she at once endeavored to sell it. After much parleying it was finally sold to M. Dubois, of Paris for $500, who entered it at the Grand Salon, where it received a bronze medal and was taxed for $12.50. It has changed hands five times since, each time the price being raised to the property of Thalia's estate of Boston, who paid $12,500 for the canvas, and it could not be purchased today for less than $5,000.

When it was brought to America it was first exhibited in Wissmacker's Philadelphia. It has since been exhibited in that city five times. It has traveled over 70,000 miles and has been seen and enjoyed by over 1,000,000 people.

This superb example of artistic skill, the masterpiece of a genius, is now exhibited in the Chalifoux store in the same manner as it was shown in the Grand Salon in Paris, and other art galleries of the old world.

Baskin says: "The names of great painters like Raphael, Titian, in the name of Velasquez, and others succeeded the fall of Spain, in the name of Titian, that of Venice, in the name of Leonardo, that of Milan; in the name of Raphael that of Rome." But in the name of the lamented Jean Valjean is sounded in certain tones, the dignity and power of honest men.

Everybody in Lowell should avail him or herself of the privilege of viewing this picture. The superintendent of schools or the teachers should arrange to have all grammar and high school pupils visit it. Many of them will never have a similar opportunity in their lives, you may say.

Judge Putnam declared that a company could lawfully buy all the patents he desired.

The difficulty with the government's case, Judge Putnam commented, is that it has not defined the remedy desired. It is like an invitation to dinner with a request to come at any time.

The aim of the suits, Mr. Gregg replied, was to restore competition in shoe machinery. He admitted the remedy was general in its terms but he stated that he had no authority to be more specific.

Judge Putnam remarked that the court wished to know just what the government asked for. In his opinion it would be hard to say whether the abolition of conditions complained of would not cause greater restraint of trade. To appoint a receiver for the United company and close the avenues of trade, he said, would only produce greater restraint. He remarked that the trouble with the government's bill was faulty construction.

Mr. Gregg said that all the government desired was restoration of competition and that the defendant company had no right to keep other shoe machinery manufacturers from placing their machines in the same factory with machines made by the United company.

The government's arguments were ended when A. W. Webster, a patent attorney who followed Mr. Gregg briefly reviewed the patent question from the government's viewpoint.

In their letter the commissioners expressed themselves as not in favor of restoring the ushway, declaring that fish no longer inhabit the river in sufficient numbers to warrant the expense of reconstructing the ushway.

The argument in the federal suit to break up what the government claims is the largest of a number of combinations forming the alleged anthracite coal trust was begun in the United States court today. The defendants are the Reading company, a holding concern, Reading railway, Reading Coal & Iron Co., Jersey Central railroad, Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co., Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., Wilmington & Northern railroad, Lehigh & Hudson River railroad, Lehigh & New England railroad and the directors of the Reading company, who are also directors in a number of other companies. The suit was filed in September, 1913, under the Sherman anti-trust law and the commodities clause of the act to regulate commerce.

Clancy, 55 Geishon avenue, were married to Mr. Leon Hubbard Greaves of Whitney Point, N. Y., and employed in Newburgh, and Mr. William S. McKenzie, a popular young man of this city, respectively. The ceremony was performed at a o'clock by the pastor, Rev. John A. Degan. The two brides were white chiffon and white garden hats and both also carried shower bouquets or lilies of the valley and sweet peas.

PAST PRESIDENTS, A.O.H.

Tuberculosis Camp of Lowell General Hospital Opened for the Season

FORMED SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL PURPOSES—LOWELL MEN EX-ROLLED

A short time ago some of the leading Hibernians in this section of the country conceived the idea of forming a Past Presidents' organization, including in membership all who have at one time or another served in the capacity of president of any division. Accordingly such an association was founded, and is making great strides. Its object is purely social, its founders aiming at creating a feeling of good fellowship among the heads of the order, thus keeping the most intelligent Hibernians in all sections of the country in touch with each other. There yet is no intimacy, such an association may eventually be a great power to Irish and particularly in Hibernian circles.

Last Sunday a largely attended meeting was held in Hibernian Hall, this city, for the purpose of enrolling the presidents of the local divisions in the organization. Many prominent Hibernians from all over the state were present and throughout the afternoon matters of great interest in Hibernian circles were discussed.

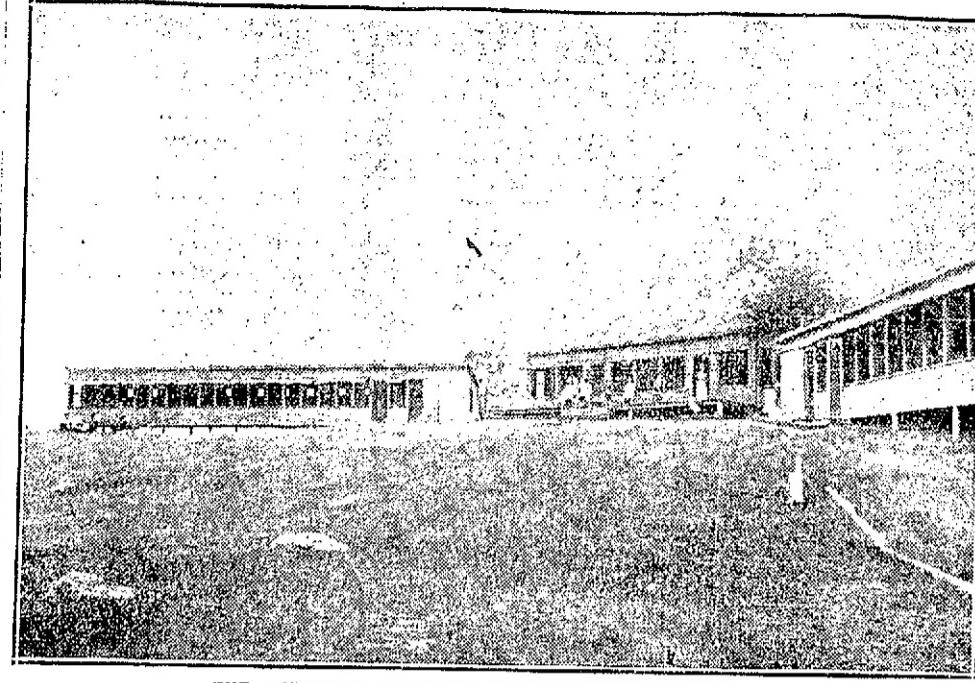

The meeting was called to order by President P. H. O'Connell, Division 14, Waltham. In the absence of the senior representative, Thomas J. Kelly of Watertown, who was detained by illness in his family, John P. Sheahan, president of Division 2, this city, was elected temporary secretary. The first business transacted was the election of officers. It seemed to be the unanimous wish of all present that Daniel J. Murphy of Lowell should assume the office of president, but he declined. James O'Sullivan of this city and several others also were nominated, but they declared that the affairs of the body are in excellent hands and declined the honor in grateful speech. Accordingly the persons officers were then elected unanimously. Besides the president and secretary-treasurer, before mentioned, there is also a vice-president, Daniel O'Connell, of Div. 25, Newton.

It was voted to hold the annual banquet in the future on the Sunday nearest the anniversary of Roger Williams' birth in May as formerly. At

THE TUBERCULOSIS CAMP, LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

The tuberculosis camp at the Lowell General hospital opened yesterday afternoon and 15 persons were on hand to take up their abode there for the summer and early fall months. About one-half of those who will take the cure are children, between the ages of 8 and 13 years. The rest are adults, and about evenly divided between men and women. The oldest person is 35 years old. The season will terminate the first week of October. The camp is free to those who are admitted. There is no charge for food or attention.

Quite a number of persons took the examinations held during the past week. Some were found not to have tuberculosis in any form. These were not granted admission and some others were considered to be in too advanced stages of the disease.

Kilby street, this city, will be charged today with larceny from the house of Elliott J. Wetherbee of 5 Court street.

Last evening when Mr. Wetherbee's daughter returned home she found the front door and window open and the rooms in confusion. The place had been thoroughly ransacked.

Patrolman Timothy Walsh learned from neighbors that a young man had been seen to enter the house at 4:30 p.m. yesterday, while the family was absent, and an hour later he carried out a small sripack. From the description given, Patrolman Walsh arrested Stewart at the B. & M. railroad station, where he was apparently awaiting a train for Boston.

In his bag were found a gold watch, two rings, toilet articles and other things that were identified as property of Mrs. Wetherbee.

A gale of gusty underwear that should interest June brides starts tomorrow at Gilbride's.

Mrs. J. B. Field and an efficient committee.

There was a fine entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Clarence W. Hoyt. It opened with a series of four tableaux, "Sunrise, Noon, Sunset and Midnight," posed by Genevieve Bowers. Then came "Little Boy Blue," by Master Clarence Hoyt.

"The Sweet Family," a clever comedy sketch, was presented with the following cast:

"Ma Sweet," Mrs. G. W. Hoyt; "Armenia Ann," Jessie Adams; "Betsey Falando," Marion McMaster; "Caroline Coddin," Ethel Kimball; "Dorothy Delight," Ruth Bradley; "Elizabeth Eliza," Louise Rogers; "Frances Frederica," Jennie Smithers; "Gloriana Gadabout," Irene Cocklebine. These young women presented a highly humorous program of songs, recitations and other stunts that received hearty applause.

The entertainment concluded with tableaux in which Mrs. Hoyt, Percy McMaster, George Williams, Donald Graham and others appeared. During the performance there was music by Cushman's orchestra.

DR. A. J. GAGNON

Discusses the cause, effect and cure of the most destructive of all dental diseases, PYORRHEA or RIGGS DISEASE. A series of continued talks appearing in this newspaper—follow it daily as it will be greatly to your advantage if you are a sufferer of mouth, teeth or gum trouble of any description.

TODAY'S TALK

Symptoms of Pyorrhea or Riggs Disease

Read the following and determine how far the disease has advanced in your case.

BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhea usually manifests itself first by a slight reddening of the gums at the margins, and a tendency to bleed more or less freely upon the slightest provocation. Those who notice such indications can safely conclude that Pyorrhea has attacked them.

SENSITIVE TEETH

When teeth reach the stage where they exhibit sensitiveness to heat or cold—that is when hot or cold foods or quick changes from warm to cool air, put them "on edge" and make them ache; or when sweet or sour affect them Pyorrhea is a safe diagnosis if there is no decay.

TARTAR

The appearance of tartar on the teeth is always an indication that something is wrong. In most cases it is the result of systemic conditions which also cause Pyorrhea.

INFLAMED GUMS

In the very first stages of Pyorrhea the gums become inflamed and discolored. As the disease increases in severity the inflammation and discoloration become more marked. Inflamed gums are an almost certain evidence of the presence of Pyorrhea, or a condition that if neglected will lead to Pyorrhea.

RECEDING GUMS

The popular conception of Pyorrhea is that it is a disease always accompanied by receding of the gums. This idea has much ground to stand on, for Pyorrhea is always manifested by receding gums.

MATTER AROUND THE TEETH

The sticky, foul-smelling substance which collects around the teeth and eats away tissues until it reaches the bone of the jaw is commonly called "matter," but this offensive, destructive formation indicates that the bony structure forming the socket has been attacked and is being slowly but surely eaten away by pus bacteria. It is from that the disease receives its name Pyorrhea, meaning pus flow.

EXUDATION OF PUS

The gums never exude pus unless there is something seriously wrong. It is safe to determine that Pyorrhea exists where this condition presents itself. The terrible consequences of pus discharges are not alone the loss of the teeth, but the constant swallowing of the poisonous matter spreads destructive germs to every part of the body.

In next Tuesday's talk I will define some of the symptoms of Pyorrhea in its advanced stages.

DR. GAGNON'S SPECIAL METHOD OF TREATING PYORRHEA OR RIGGS DISEASE IS BOTH PAINLESS AND INEXPENSIVE.

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR PATTERSON RUBBER CO.

Direct Control Passes Into Hands of Messrs. Macdonald and John L. Morse—Prospect for Coming Season is Quite Encouraging

Announcement was made today that the Patterson Rubber Co., whose plant is located on upper Middlesex street, has been reorganized and that the former president, John S. Patterson, and vice president, James M. Patterson, have resigned and sold out their holdings in the company.

Walter N. Macdonald and John L. Morse are the two men now in charge of the concern, the former in the capacity of factory manager and the latter as treasurer of the company. There were originally five men who organized the Patterson Rubber Co. John S. and James M. Patterson, F. H. Appleton Sr., F. H. Appleton Jr., and Geo. E. Singleton. The last three mentioned still possess an interest in the firm although they are not connected with its active management.

In an interview given to a Sun reporter this noon, Messrs. Macdonald and Morse spoke very optimistically of the prospects of the concern under its new organization and management. "There will be no change in our facstrictions: "Are you in favor of applying the civil service to all municipal employees? Make cross in square expressing your choice."

Mayor Murphy decided that it was not necessary to have the men sign their names as the cross in the yes or no square would suit the same purpose. A seal ballot is marked, the envelope containing it will be sealed and all of the envelopes will be deposited with the city treasurer until the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday, when a committee of two will be appointed to open them.

Edward J. Tierney, counsel for the men who petitioned to have the city laborers placed under civil service, objects to the secret ballot process and declares that it is absolutely unfair. He says that such a vote should not be taken at a time when the payrolls of the city are crowded with temporary workers, many of whom have been hired for political reasons, and when many permanent employees have been discharged for political reasons. He maintains that unless the vote is submitted and determined on the best of good faith, the result is predetermined and the whole procedure is a farce, which will deceive nobody.

Tierney Sends Letter

Mr. Tierney has addressed the following letter to the mayor and members of the municipal council:

To the Mayor and Members of the Municipal Council, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen: I see in the evening paper that you have determined to take up the matter of the municipal employees before deciding what disposition can well make of the petition now pending, asking that the municipal labor of the city be placed under the provisions of the civil service laws. SUBMARINE TELEPHONY

Carried Voice Under Sea at Boston Lightship

Wonderful Discovery Demonstrated for the First Time

BOSTON, June 4.—Submarine wireless telephony and telegraphy are accomplished facts and were yesterday publicly demonstrated for the first time. Conversation between men stationed on board moored 150 feet away at the Boston lightship was carried on with natural ease and in ordinary tones and messages in the Morse code were transmitted without interruption between the same craft separated one, five and ten miles on the surface of a choppy sea. These tests were made in the presence of a group of newspaper men and other observers.

With the story of the sinking of the Empress of Ireland not yet fully told and memories of the Titanic disaster of two years ago still fresh in their minds, the men who yesterday saw these wonders of submarine communication take place under their own eyes and heard them through their own ears expressed the thought that had either of those ill-fated ships been equipped with the apparatus of this newest safeguard against marine disaster, the fearful losses of life that resulted from their sinking could not have occurred. For not only does this new marvel make it a practical thing to easily and surely communicate between ships that are connected only by the waters upon which they are sailing, but it provides a means by which the depth of water under them can be exactly determined and the distance and location of an unseen iceberg being accurately known aboard a ship within the danger zone.

IT WAS NOT A FIRE

BUT WAS A TEST OF THE SPRINKLERS ON THE CHALIFOUX STORE THIS MORNING

The new automatic sprinklers in the Chalifoux building at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets were turned on this morning and tested much to the curiosity of those who happened to be in the vicinity of the building at the time.

The sidewalk outside the building was roped off and the store was closed during the testing of the fire preventive. The sprinklers were first turned on the Central street side of the building and gradually a wall of falling water surrounded it on both the Central and Merrimack street sides.

Judging from appearance the apparatus worked very well indeed. The automatic sprinklers are located above the windows, beginning with the third story and from each sprout water-poured down across the windows and walls of the building to the sidewalk. The experiment lasted for ten minutes or more.

CRUISER BROOKLYN TO SAIL

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The cruiser Brooklyn, which has been stationed at the local navy yard for nearly ten years and which at one time was ordered to the scrap heap, will sail for China to take her place as flagship of the Asiatic squadron.

The Brooklyn was Admiral Schley's flagship during the Spanish American war and led the fighting when the Spanish fleet was destroying at Santiago. The ship was struck about twenty times by shells and her sides still show where the blows were received.

Several years after the war the vessel was sent to the Philadelphia navy yard where she was put out of commission. About a year ago work was begun on the vessel and she was completely overhauled.

For Park Commissioner

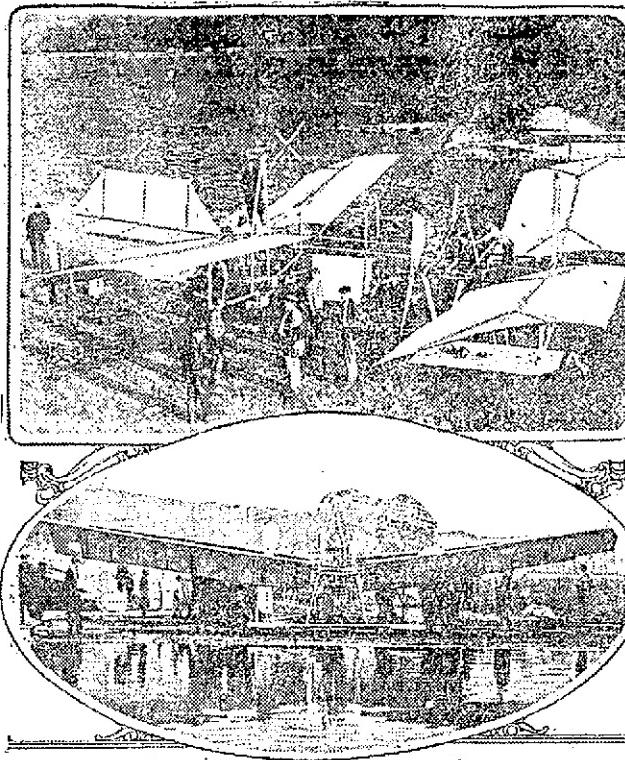

Clarence E. Wood of the State Normal school can have Dr. Mignault place on the park board if he wants it and so far as experience is concerned it would mean a good change for the city, as Mr. Wood is a recognized botanist. Of course it is the duty of the park department to keep down the weeds, but this is a good weed. Exchanging Dr. Mignault for Mr. Wood may not be exactly a case of plucking a thistle and planting a rose, but inasmuch as Mr. Wood knows more about roses and thistles than the doctor, the change cannot be but for the betterment of the department and persons interested in the park and playground work will do all they can to have Mr. Wood accept the position.

LARCENY AND EMBEZZLEMENT

NEW YORK, June 4.—An order for the extradition on charges alleging larceny and embezzlement was granted yesterday by the magistrate at the Bow street extradition court against Thomas Adam Reid, a former employee of Chubb & Son of New York. He was arrested here in April. Reid mysteriously disappeared from New York on March 22 this year, and it is alleged that the books of which he was in charge at Chubb & Son's showed an enormous shortage. He had been ten years in the employ of the firm.

HAVERHILL, June 4.—Charles H. Davis and an unknown Greek were committed to the state hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from undetermined injuries sustained in falling 30 feet from a staging at a house on Parton street, occupied by Mrs. W. E. Atwood.

The men were painting when the staging collapsed. Davis fell to the ground and was severely hurt about the head. The Greek grabbed hold of the sill of an open window to which he clung until rescued by Mrs. Atwood.

The Greek sustained a badly sprained wrist, and as internal injuries are feared, both were committed to the hospital for observation.

BRIGANDS SET FIRE TO FAMOUS MONASTERY

"White Wolf," the Chinese Brigand, and His Followers Looting and Burning Towns in Province of Kan-Su—Fled to Mountains

PEKIN, China, June 4.—"White Wolf," the Chinese brigand who during the past few months has devastated the provinces of Hu-Peh, Ho-Nan and Shen-Su, is now looting and burning towns and villages in the provinces of Kan-Su.

After eluding the troops sent to capture him by the Chinese government he yesterday set fire to the town of Ning-Chow and his followers today attacked Tao-Chow in the extreme south of the province, and after pillaging the inhabitants burned it to the ground.

The brigands then proceeded to Cho-Ni, where they set fire to the famous monastery of the Tibetan Lamas.

Subsequently a column of regular troops overtook and defeated the bandits, who fled to the ravines of Lily mountain, 100 miles to the south of Lanchow, where they are reported to be virtually surrounded by troops.

ATTACKED TAO CHOW

LONDON, June 4.—"I will lie on the steps of the house of commons without food or water until Asquith consents to receive a deputation."

This threat was uttered by Sylvia Pankhurst at a meeting at Limehouse last night, and she declared she would carry it into effect should the suffragettes fail in their endeavor to see the prime minister on June 10.

The other speeches at the same meeting breathed defiance to the Liberal government, which was denounced as alone responsible for militancy, and suggestions of wholesale incendiarism were made.

Two young suffragettes yesterday waylaid and horsewhipped Dr. F. E. Forward, deputy governor of Holloway jail, outside the prison. They lashed him many times before a policeman rescued him and arrested his assailants.

It was the second time Dr. Forward had been whipped by militants outside of Holloway. He is in charge of the medical work of the prison and the suffragettes blame him for the forcible feeding of women prisoners.

An attendant in the Dore gallery on Bond street was seriously hurt by another militant this afternoon who succeeded in smashing two paintings by Henry Moore and Giacometti at the National Gallery.

Two Bills Introduced by Rep. Johnson and Rep. Britten

HENNIKER, N. H., June 4.—A demand for the arrest of two other persons for the murder of Howard W. Peaslee, the local toy maker, was made yesterday by A. H. Barrett, a Boston detective, employed by the murdered man's son, Shirley H. Peaslee.

It is believed that the arrests will be made today.

Detectives have been working day and night for the last week, but yesterday Detective Barrett called upon the selectmen and told them that he was sure that there was enough evidence to warrant the arrest of two more persons in connection with the murder for which Eugene Wood, a farm hand, was held under arrest.

The selectmen held a meeting yesterday to discuss the Peaslee case. After a conference with the state officers, it is believed that the local officers will make the arrests demanded by the detective.

The combination for the Peaslee safe will arrive here from Boston today and the safe will be opened. It is thought that the murdered man had his will in the safe, other valuable documents are also believed to be in the safe.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Joe Chick and Bill Fleming have been matched to meet in a fifteen-round fray at Marleville, R. I., on next Monday night. These two welters should give the fans of that town a run for their money for both men are rugged performers who prefer to mix it rather than box.

Battling Levinsky will tackle Jack Davies in a New York ring Saturday night and looks to be up against something hard. Davies put Al Benedict away in a pair of rounds not long ago and Benedict is a powerful antagonist. Levinsky will know that he's been in a rumpus before the affair is over.

Most of the smaller boxing clubs in New England have closed their doors for the summer months and will not reopen again until the cooler weather comes around in the fall.

It looks now as though George Chip will follow in the footsteps of other American exponents of the squared ring and turn his face toward the Antipodes. His manager, Jimmy Dime, states that he is going to convince the Australians that Chip is still the world's best at the middle-weight limit and will then bring his man back and stake him up against anybody at all. Well, Eddie McGoorty seems to be doing a great business over there.

Freddie Yelle, the Taunton lightweight who created such a favorable impression everywhere that he boxed, is continuing his winning over across the water. In his first fight on foreign soil Saturday night Yelle knocked out Marcel Dennis in the 15th round of what was scheduled to be a twenty-round affair.

There is some talk of Mike Gibbons meeting Kid Graves in a Rhode Island ring within the next two weeks but it may be all talk. Certain it is that Michael will have to be shown the real long green before they won't raise it. If they don't you can go hot that there won't be any battle.

Young Gradwell of Newark and Willie Beacher will meet at one of the larger Jersey clubs next Wednesday in a fifteen-round scrap. Beacher is the boxer who stopped Fred Halsband of England in four rounds in New York Saturday. Eddie Flynn of Peabody fought Young Grammell a bout between Dundee and Johnny Gallant.

Champion Willie Richie's beating by Charlie White did him more damage than was at first supposed. By damage we mean financial detriment for Richie is more careful of his pocket-book than he is of his health. The English promoters who at first offered him $40,000 for a bout in London with Freddie Welsh have now cut that figure in half and state that they won't raise it. If they don't you can go hot that there won't be a twenty-round affair.

Right here in Lawrence is as good a man as is in the league at the unprising stage—Tommy Jordan—but neither Doherty, Barron, Hardy and Black and they are all rather bad. Good men could be secured for the money paid by Cooper and when we go back to the days of Ratty, Stanford, Buckley and even Lanigan we hold up our hands in horror at the present array.

Secretary Cooper as far as regular umpires goes—Doherty, Barron, Hardy and Black and they are all rather bad.

Good men could be secured for the money paid by Cooper and when we go back to the days of Ratty, Stanford, Buckley and even Lanigan we hold up our hands in horror at the present array.

Secretary Cooper evidently hasn't the time to properly care for the job and his resignation would probably bring forth a man who would lead impetus to the job and keep things humming.—Lawrence Sun.

Yes, brother, we agree with you. Although Arthur Cooper is a fine chap personally he is altogether too busy to attend properly to his job.

While Fishearty was a member of the Chicago White Sox Carlo acted as bat boy for the club and he was a big favorite with Fishearty, who was then one of the leading pitchers of the team. Carlo is only a youngster, about 22 years old, and although quite steady is very short built, something on the lines of Eddie Cicotte of the White Sox, although not quite as heavy.—Lynn News.

We are glad to hear that this Carlo person is not like Eddie Cicotte in every particular. He is a pretty fair pitcher when his teammates are ahead.

The one big and joyful surprise handed the St. Louis fans this season is Branch Rickey. A lot of fun has been made of Rickey because of his radical ideas. The best stunt he pulled was to warm up his pinch-hitters. For this he was pooh-poohed by everybody from the bleachers to the occupants of the boxes. But as some Cleveland critics aptly remarked, "The really trouble with Rickey's theories is that they were not first advanced by McGraw or Mack."

He has retained Gus Williams and made him almost a great player. Gus hasn't made an error yet this season, while he is outshining Cobb, Gandy and other hard hitters. Rickey has put spirit in the team and he has the boys behind him.

Rickey has made a practice of holding morning meetings. Little get-together affairs in which the plays of yesterday's games are discussed. Recently his players convened in the clubhouse at the appointed hour—10 o'clock—to find the manager missing. They waited patiently for 15 minutes without Rickey making his appearance. Then the tip was received that Rickey was out on the field, talking to the ground-keeper.

A committee of three immediately was appointed to ascertain the reason for Rickey's tardiness. Bert Shotton, Del Pratt and Clyde Wares were the managers of the Brooklyn Federal League club.

Stephen D. Flanagan, honorary vice president of the Colonial League and secretary of the Providence club of the International League, resigned his Colonial League office because, he said, he did not wish to injure the Providence club in organized baseball.

Bannwart, known all over the east as Al Winn, formerly owner and manager of the Lowell team in the New England League and later organizer of the new instant Greater Boston League, is the one-man power in the Colonial League and adds that he believes he is receiving his tuns from the Ward brothers, owners of the Brooklyn Federal League club.

Stephen D. Flanagan, honorary vice president of the Colonial League and secretary of the Providence club of the International League, resigned his Colonial League office because, he said, he did not wish to injure the Providence club in organized baseball.

"I am satisfied that so far Bannwart has put nearly $25,000 into the new league," said Blake, "but they repeat me in when they secured the grounds ahead of me. When I became satisfied that the Federal League was behind Bannwart, I got out, as I do not care to jeopardize myself with organized baseball by helping the Federal."

Bannwart deposited £1000 in each city for the use of the club for working capital. I am satisfied that so far Bannwart has put nearly $25,000 into the new league.

"The scheme by which I was roped in was that each so-called owner and manager on the sales of players. Each manager was to receive a salary and a percentage on the sales of players. Everything was run on a syndicate basis. Although we adopted a guarantee for visiting clubs we never paid them, for the reason that the teams were operated from the same source. We simply checked up the receipts each day and reported to the boss."

"Finally $9000 was spent by Bannwart in putting parks into shape for the season."

The Brockton club will probably remain here, according to men connected with the league, William Reardon,

Manager Patsy Flaherty of the Lynn club has signed up a left-handed pitcher who may get into one of the games this week. Flaherty may use him against Pittsburgh either tomorrow or Thursday. He is Dominick Caro, recently the property of Daniel Cleo-

Yes, friends, there are disappointments in even big league castoffs.

KANSAS CITY, June 4.—An opinion by the court of appeals which yesterday awarded Charles A. Edling, a lawyer, $3500 for being hit on the nose by a foul ball while watching an American Association game, here, said:

"If the Kansas City Blues had kept their eyes on the ball with the accuracy that they contend Edling should have exhibited, they would have attained a higher place in the pennant race."

The accident to Edling's nose occurred in 1911. The ball hit him after breaking through a wire netting. He obtained a judgment of $3500. The club-owners appealed, contending he either should have caught the ball or dodged it.

Communication Between West Coast of Mexico and Mexico City Severed—Huerta's Troops Isolated From Chief

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, Mex., June 3, by wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 4.—Communication between the west coast of Mexico and Mexico City has been completely severed, according to information reaching the American fleet here today. A party of constitutionalists moving from San Blas to Las Teres Marias Island, 60 miles west of Tepic, have captured the federal prison and the radio station which will isolate the Huerta troops operating in the west from any direct touch with their chief. Guadalajara, the objective point of the recent operations of the constitutional army of the northwest under command of Gen. Obregon has been effectively surrounded. Three columns of Obregon's army, according to official information reaching Admiral Howard have succeeded in shutting off the city from the national capital on the east and Manzanillo and the Pacific coast on the west.

The schooner Leonor, with a cargo of supplies for the beleaguered federal garrison of Mazatlan was prevented from discharging her freight today by the fire of Gen. Obregon's constitutional batteries. The captain of the vessel announced he would attempt to-night to run the constitutional fire.

LEDYARD CONTRADICTS MELLEN'S STATEMENTS

Wm. Skinner Never Made a Dollar on New Haven—Troubled Conditions Due to Inability to Properly Mortgage Property and Necessity of Disintegrating Properties to Comply With Laws, He Says

WASHINGTON, June 4.—William Skinner, a director of the New Haven railroad, continued his testimony today at the resumption of the inquiry into the railroad's financial affairs. Lewis Cass Ledyard and George F. Baker, directors, and George F. Minot, former director, were waiting to testify. Mr. Ledyard will testify as a voluntary witness.

"Why did the directors make a report to the stockholders to the effect that the New Haven held marketable securities of the Billiard company worth $10,400,000 when they were in reality of little value?" asked Chief Counsel Folk of Mr. Skinner.

"I took the word of the accounting department of the road."

"Have you no auditing committee on the board?"

"No, but we employ certified accountants."

"Do you not know that the accountants said they had not been able to determine the value of the securities?"

"I could not investigate all of these details. I accepted the report of the accounting department on the value of the securities."

"Did you know of the Prayer from the Hills issued to create public sentiment?"

"I do not think it was proper to try to influence public feeling by circulating literature purporting to come from the people when, as a matter of fact, it was sent out by the railroad?"

"With all the hue and cry against the railroads they must create sentiment in their favor."

"You have a representative of the Pennsylvania railroad on the New Haven board and a representative of the New York Central?" asked Mr. Folk.

"Yes, both roads are represented on the New Haven board. The Pennsylvania is a very large stockholder."

"Do you think that interlocking directors work in the public interest?"

"I think so, yes. We get a tremendous traffic from the Pennsylvania. I believe the public gets a better service by our working together."

"In other words, by creating a transportation monopoly?" suggested Mr. Folk.

"By no means. Such an arrangement creates no monopoly. It works for the betterment of both the roads and the public."

Mr. Skinner was questioned by William Nelson Cromwell, appearing for several of the directors.

"What was the average attendance at the directors' meetings?" asked Mr. Cromwell.

"About 20, I think."

"Were not these various financial transactions brought before the board in a general way after details had been worked out by officials of the various departments?"

"These matters were presented in summary form by Mr. Mellen. He would make suggestions and give his views."

"Were these matters presented in writing and passed around at the meetings?"

"Some of them were."

"Were the decisions of the board in these matters generally unanimous?"

"Usually they were. If any serious objections were raised to any transaction action was postponed."

"What brought about the troubled conditions of the New Haven?" Was it not the necessity of disintegrating some of the properties acquired which under various laws the New Haven had to dispose of it after it had bought them?"

"That had a good deal to do with it."

"Were not the conditions also partly due to the lack of ability to properly mortgage the New Haven property?"

"They were."

In the course of his interrogation, Mr. Cromwell developed that no mortgages lies against the main line of the New Haven.

"You were not able to finance the New Haven as other large railroad systems usually are financed?"

"No, we were not. We were obliged to finance the system from year to year. Difficulties grew out of state laws and inquiries and public criticism."

"Your view is, therefore," suggested Mr. Cromwell, "that financiers found it impracticable adequately to finance the property on account of embarrassments created by laws and by investigations?"

"That certainly is true."

TO HOLD UP KING GEORGE

REPORTED THAT MILITANTS PLAN TO ATTACK RULER AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, June 4.—An attempt failed to hold up King George at tonight's court at Buckingham Palace.

The latest conspiracy charged to the militant suffragettes. The Evening Standard, which is responsible for the story, says that the police discovered elaborate plans for securing access to the court, including forged cards of admission. The alleged plot is credited to the fertile brain of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst but the timely discovery led to such precautions being taken, it is believed as to render it impossible of realization.

REPAIRING GRANITE WALK

The park department is repairing the granite walk to Harris Park in the Highlands. Very few people are aware of the fact that Mr. Frank Harris, proprietor of the Harrisson hotel in Central street, donated a park to the city, but such is the case and Mr. Harris is going to pay for the repairs that are being made there by the park department. He will not pay for all of the material.

The park is situated just back of St. Margaret's church in Stevens street.

Speaking of the park department and park board, it was stated this afternoon that the newly elected member of the board, Thomas F. McKay, will be elected chairman at the next regular meeting of the board.

er properties, as I understand it," continued Mr. Cromwell, "were made with some other view than the material value at the time the properties were acquired. Was not the object to make permanent the New Haven system?"

"That is correct."

"You and other members of your family own about 10,000 shares of New Haven stock?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be one of the largest losers through the reduction in dividends."

"I have personally lost $40,000 in one year that way."

"Have you ever had any business dealings with the New Haven by which you have made any money?"

"I never had any dealings by which I made a dollar."

DENIES MELLEN STATEMENT

"There is not a word of truth in that statement."

"The substantial part of Mr. Mellen's testimony on this point was wholly untrue, although later he qualified his statement to some extent."

"Mr. Mellen found that the Adams contract was to run until 1916 and he refused to enter into any arrangement beginning from that date, as it was too far ahead, he said."

"Mr. Folk has asked if the contract between the American Express and Boston & Maine which was extended in 1907 did not cost the Boston & Maine $700,000 over and above what it cost."

"That being so," he said, "the stockholders were not deceived in the slightest degree. They knew that the value ascribed to the securities was a 'book value' only."

"Did Mr. Mellen as the directors' meetings show any desire to dominate or dictate?"

"Not that I recall. He was away in Europe much of the time and could not attend meetings regularly."

Following Mr. Skinner's testimony, Mr. Ledyard was called but was not sworn. He said he desired to contradict certain statements made by Mr. Mellen in his testimony.

"In the spring of 1907 I had been a director of the Boston & Maine for some time, but had had no relations with the New Haven. On the Boston & Maine board I represented the largest holders of stock, the American Express Co."

MELLEN WANTED EXPRESS CO.

"Gardiner Lane of Boston asked me one day if the express company would sell its stock. I asked him why and he told me Mr. Mellen wanted it for the New Haven. After consulting with officials of the express company, I told Mr. Lane we would be willing to sell. In the course of negotiations with Mellen the terms were fixed. Mr. Mellen had offered one share of Boston & Maine for each share of Boston & Maine. We asked that the same terms be made with other stockholders and Mr. Mellen agreed.

"I tried to get for the American Express company the business of the New Haven but it was never a condition of the sale of the Boston & Maine stock. Adams Express company then had the business of the New Haven. I saw Mr. Mellen about this matter in New York. Mr. Mellen has testified that what I was after was to get an extension of the contract between the American Express company and the Boston & Maine.

WAS BEDOUIN KING BUT ABDICATED THRONE

Harilos Politis, the Greek Globe Trotter, Walks Into Lowell for Brief Visit—Has Been on the Pike for Eleven Years

Did you ever shake hands with a king?

Not a John Calhoun, nor a Walter Butler, a real live monarchial king who ruled over a savage tribe of scrofulous Bedouins in the arid plains of Sahara.

The gentleman of kinky fame with whom I exchanged greetings this morning is Harilos Politis, from faraway Smyrna, in Turkey, who for the past 11 years has been perambulating over the wide world without the aid of an auto, horse or roller skates, doing some 200 miles from home he received the stent on Shank's mare.

Mr. Politis is on a brief visit to Lowell, making his headquarters in the Greek colony and I was presented to his royal pedestrian by my old friend.

Nicholas Spyropolis, the well known Greek citizen and constable.

Mr. Politis has had a most interesting experience on his travels and being versed in about a dozen languages he will never get lost because of inability to inquire the way. Although a Greek he was born in Smyrna and at an early age was sent to school in Vienna. Here he received the degree of M. D. but took to newspaper work, conceiving the idea of pedescent. He was sent into the neighborhood in which he was employed, to travel on foot and report his experience to his paper. One day when hitting the continental pike some 200 miles from home he received the stent on Shank's mare.

MEN BLOWN INTO STREET OLD AGE PENSION BILLS

SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS FOLLOWED BY FIRE DESTROY GAS WORKS AT CANTON, MASS.

CANTON, Mass., June 4.—Four men at work in the plant of the Searchlight Gas Co. had a narrow escape today when the buildings were destroyed by a series of explosions followed by fire. Although all the men were blown into the street they suffered only slight injuries. The monetary loss was small.

The proposed legislation would compel all employees to contribute 3% to 5% of their salaries to the general pension fund.

Speaking against the measure, John A. Sullivan, corporation counsel for this city, told the committee that the public would have to pay all the bills and claimed that new taxes would have to be levied on all the industries for the benefit of a few.

REWEDS FIRST HUSBAND

MRS. JENNIE MAY EATON-AINSWORTH

Mrs. Eaton, Last Fall Acquitted of Murder of Admiral Eaton, Remarries D. H. Ainsworth

BOSTON, June 4—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton's first husband was known as D. Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph Henry Ainsworth.

It is stated that the couple have engaged a cottage at Colonial beach, a summer resort on Chesapeake bay, near Washington, for their second honeymoon.

About four years ago the Eatons figured prominently in the news through the death of an adopted baby which was followed by an investigation. In March, 1912, Admiral Eaton died from pneumonia. Mrs. Eaton's arrest, charged with murder, followed. She spent months in the Plymouth jail and last October after a trial before a jury was acquitted. Since the trial she has lived quietly at the Ainsworth home with her two daughters, Mrs. Baldwin Kever and Dorothy Ainsworth. Two months ago the two women went south, supposedly for a visit to Mrs. Eaton's old home.

Eight years ago the Ainsworths were divorced in Illinois, and shortly after Mrs. Ainsworth became the second wife of Admiral Eaton.

Last fall, during her trial in Plymouth, Mrs. Eaton testified that her first husband's heavy drinking compelled her to earn her own living selling books and later caused the divorce.

It was rumored in Aransasville among the neighbors yesterday that the marriage of the youngest of Mrs. Ainsworth's two daughters, Dorothy, would soon follow. Both Dorothy and June left who re-married the couple said to a reporter in Washington last night.

"I re-married them because they seemed so happy and because it is a renewal of an original marriage," Mrs. Baldwin Kever said. "I did not know either of them before they selected me because I did not know them."

Asked whether the daughters Dorothy and June knew of the wedding, Mrs. Eaton gave her.

When employed in the United States related prior to their divorce, Mrs.

human heart. The whole legislature went to the beach and saw for themselves the conditions and heard the stories of the victims. In this situation, the reservation act was passed.

It is a shame that our constitution is such as to permit have the defeat of this legislation enacted for the benefit of the suffering and oppressed.

The proposed amendment carefully safeguards the right to take land by limiting it to the land described in the legislative act and with the legislative committee to pass upon the question in the first instance and then both branches of the legislature and the governor with his power of veto, there can be no danger of any abuse of power. It ought always to have been the law, and I trust that the house will wisdom and humanity will see to it that it is made so now.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Peter Rayball and Miss Katherine McEvilly were married yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church by Rev. W. George Mullin. The bridegroom was Miss Mary Gashaway, a cousin of the bride, while the best man was John Rayball, a brother of the bridegroom. At the close of the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and the guests included relatives from Huntington, Va., and Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayball who were the recipients of numerous gifts, left on a honeymoon trip in the evening and upon their return they will make their home at 21 Andra street, this city.

TO OBSERVE SPANISH LAW

Magistrate Will Perform Civil Marriage Ceremony for Miss Willard and Kermit Roosevelt

MADRID, June 4.—Because Ambassador Willard desires to observe all the requirements of the Spanish law in respect to foreign marriages, the magistrate of the Buena Vista district will perform the civil marriage ceremony for Miss Belle Willard and Kermit Roosevelt on June 10. The American embassy is situated in the Buena Vista district, the most aristocratic section of the city.

When the minister of state learned that the ambassador desired to observe the Spanish law in this respect he suggested the justice should go to the American embassy, but as the embassy is beyond the legal control of the magistrate, being technically United States territory, a room has been fitted up in the magistrate's own residence where the ceremony will take place.

The formal witnesses doubtless will include Eduardo Dato, the Spanish premier, the Marquis of Lema, the minister of state, Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador in Paris, and Col. Roosevelt.

The religious service will take place at noon the next day in the chapel of the British embassy. The chapel is in a portion in the embassy grounds.

MILLIONAIRE INDICTED

JOEL M. FOSTER, POULTRY MAN HELD BY THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

MORRILE, Ala., June 4.—Joel M. Foster, millionaire poultry man of Browns Mills, N. J., and son of the head of the International Correspondence school of Scranton, Penn., who was arrested here on January 1 on the charge of white slavery and held to await the action of the federal grand jury, was indicted by that body yesterday.

The indictment was on the evidence furnished them by Lelijah M. Bradley, the 17-year-old stenographer of Pensacola, Fla., the alleged victim of the wealthy man.

This mere slip of a pretty girl with her father, Harry E. Bradley, went before the grand jury on Thursday last and both told their side of the case.

The indictment will no doubt come as a surprise to Foster, as it was recently reported that the girl and her father had abandoned the idea of any prosecution.

In fact the birdmen of Foster, here figured that no indictment would be returned. The defendant, after his arrest here, following a sensational trip to several southern cities with the girl,

The Rev. Dr. Samuel N. Watson, pastor of the American Protestant Episcopal church in Paris will perform the service.

The wedding party will proceed from the ambassador's house to the church in automobiles and gala carriages, among which probably will be one of the court equipages with a representative of the king of Spain.

The bride's dress will be of ivory satin and tulle, with a court train.

She will wear orange blossoms arranged with old lace and a long veil of tulle and lace. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Willard, will wear white satin with a train of pale blue tulle.

The bridesmaids, her serene highness, the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, Mademoiselle Gilone Le Veneurs Du Tilliers and Miss Virginie Christian, will wear white tulle with tulle. All of them will wear lace with touches of yellow and yellow ribbon tied under the chin. They will carry bouquets of yellow orchids.

The wedding breakfast will be served in the American embassy and a reception to which some thousands of persons have been invited, including the diplomatic corps and many officials and members of the highest Spanish nobility will follow.

SCENE FROM THE "MASTER MIND" WITH EDMUND BREESE IN THE TITLE ROLE AT KEITH'S TODAY, TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The first change in photo dramas at the B. F. Keith theatre will take place this afternoon, when "The Master Mind," the most powerful melodrama of the present season, with Edmund Breece in the title role, will be shown.

Presentations of this absorbing play will be made afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, and they should receive the serious attention of every lover of the film drama as well as persons who are not familiar with the new order of things in the dramatic field, but who like well acted drama.

The success of the Jesse L. Lasky feature play, "The Snow Man," given the first three days of the present week, was instantaneous, and the general tone of the comment was to the effect that it was the best photographed, most interesting picture drama ever produced in this city. The same attention and energy was given by the stage director and the actors to "The Master Mind," and it will be in five parts with the scenes and a cast which is deemed to be the most satisfactory ever assembled for a picture play production. Mr. Breece, the leading actor of the company, is very well known in the field of the legitimate stage, and he it was who first played the part of "John Ryder" in "The Lion and the Mouse." He has specially qualified to play strong character parts and in his latest offering presents one of the most striking pictures of a scientifically inclined criminal ever presented to the public. The play was an unqualified hit in New York where it was first presented.

It was voted to hold the semi-annual communion Sunday, June 28, at the 5 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church and in the afternoon take part in the parade which will be held in connection with the observance of St. John's day. It was also voted to donate a gold medal for the commencement exercises at St. Joseph's college.

Remarks for the interest of the organization were made by J. A. N. Chretien, Joseph Elie and the chaplain, Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I.

C. M. A. C. MEETING

The regular meeting of the C. M. A. C. was held Tuesday night in the rooms in Fauchet street and was largely attended. President Isidore Trudel occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted. Three new members were initiated, Messrs. Arthur Thibault, Athanase Gosselin and Arthur Hubert.

It was voted to hold the semi-annual communion Sunday, June 28, at the 5 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church and in the afternoon take part in the parade which will be held in connection with the observance of St. John's day. Remarks for the interest of the organization were made by J. A. N. Chretien, Joseph Elie and the chaplain, Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I.

The story of "The Master Mind" follows: Planning to revenge the execution of his brother, whom the district attorney caused to be convicted, Richard Allen, a quaint individual who takes delight in concealing his identity by playing the role of valet to an extravagant young man in New York, plots for the downfall of the prosecutor and educates his cleverest woman crook, "Three Arm Funny," with a view to having her fascinate and marry the district attorney.

The Master Mind, under various disguises, informs the district attorney that he will receive the four acres at certain intervals, but that when he gets the ace of spades alone, the end will be near.

"Richard Allen," known as the Master Mind, conceives many diabolical plots looking forward to the ruin of his enemy, the district attorney and finally succeeds in arousing his anger and jealousy, and is about to crush the unsuspecting prosecutor when "Three Arm Funny," who has really fallen in love with her husband, pleads with the Master Mind to withdraw.

The appeal is effective for the Master Mind so loves this woman that he respects her wish, and disappears, to be seen no more.

The powerful gang of crooks, over which he held a formidable leadership, is disbanded and the district attorney, not knowing that Funny is a reformed crook, goes on in his own way, and eventually becomes governor of the state.

In addition to the big feature there will be other films shown, including the Heart-Sellis News Pictorial, stereopticon views of well known scenes and songs. A string orchestra will furnish music. The house with its cooling system in operation makes it the most comfortable theatre in the city. Good seats may be obtained for 10 cents, although a few will be reserved at 15 cents. Children admitted for five cents. The shows begin at 7.15 p.m. respectively.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Women patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre should avail themselves of the unusual offer made by Manager Carroll in which he offers to the first 100 ladies attending the matinees today or Friday, a reserved seat for the minimum price of 10 cents, providing they present at the same time a coupon attached to the advertisement which appears in this paper. The play, "The Ironmaster," is admitted the best dramatic offering that local followers of stock have enjoyed in seasons. It offers unusual opportunity for excellent work on the part of those engaged in the cast, and all come up to the fondest expectations of their ardent admirers. Next week the Play-ers will present "The Lottery Man," Cyril Scott's greatest comedy success. Telephone 2053.

THE OWL THEATRE

One of the biggest programs of the year has been booked for Friday and Saturday at the Owl when "The Peril of Passion" will be shown. Don't make any mistake about the series, this is the sixth—the last one to be released, and it will positively be shown for the first time in Lowell at the Owl.

The rest of the program contains many new features, including "White Queen," a mysterious drama, "A Man's Loyalty," another feature. In two reels, telling a thrilling story of heart-interest and "Fatal Flirtation" one of those funny Keystones that produces the laughs.

"The Snow Girl" will be seen, her weekly adventure, and Frank Dalton will sing while other pictures are to be shown.

The coming attractions are to be as attractive as these. "Fatomas," a wonderful detective story which is being shown in series has been booked by the Owl for Monday and Tuesday, while another popular series is to be shown while the famous Players' Films, the stellar attraction furnished by Daniel Frohman, the first to be shown being "Checkers," a play that has already scored a big success in Lowell. The other attractions will be announced later. Watch the notices and advertisements.

CRESCENT RINK

One of the most interesting races of the season will be held at the Crescent rink on Friday night when John Mahan, the old pugilist, rider, and Al Denton, one of Lowell's speediest skaters, will line up against each other in a six-mile contest. Both men are on edge for the event and a great race is assured all who attend. Those holding skating checks may see the race free while those who do not care to go on the outside may purchase a general admission ticket for 10 cents, which is an excellent buy. Mahan has defeated White of Boston in a similar race and he expects to land a winner Friday night but Denton and his friends think otherwise. At any rate the contest is sure to provide unusual interest. It's always cool and comfortable at the Crescent rink.

THE KASINO

What so rare as a night in June at the Kasino on Thorndike hill? Here one may find dancing under ideal conditions, with Miner's orchestra performing, and the Kasino standard always in evidence. Of course, there are large crowds present, but the Kasino is an exception that there is never crowding. Come up and get the Kasino sensation.

LADY LOOKABOUT

Of all the acts of thoughtlessness which are charged up to automobilists, perhaps one of the most glaring is that of bringing a machine to a stop and leaving it for some time directly beside a white post. When a car stops, all the wagon and machine traffic behind it or the standing automobile are again started. During the hours of heavy traffic, this condition is very marked, as our city streets are too narrow to admit of the passage of a second vehicle between the car tracks and the curbing. As it is practically impossible to widen the streets, it would seem that the only other course left is to regulate traffic that a vehicle will not stop where it is known that a car is very likely to stop.

The Good Librarian

I have just come across, in my reading, a list of specifications for a good librarian or assistant librarian, and I suppose that means any person who attends to the wants of the subscribing public, which I am going to pass along, trusting that it may fall on fertile soil somewhere.

A good talker on any subject, whether she knows it or not.

Cheerful, with a sense of humor.

A good disposition, but not an easy disposition.

A good mixer.

Tolerably good looking, but not too good-looking.

Doesn't mind the weather, nor any discomfort.

Diplomatic.

Well educated if possible, but must seem so at any rate.

Not persnickety.

No chip on shoulder.

A hard worker.

Worthy of Imitation

There is an organization in Boston whose purpose could well be adopted in Lowell. It is the Boston placement bureau, and its aim is to place children who leave school in positions for which they are mentally, physically and temperamentally fitted. Eight hundred and sixty-three Boston children were placed in positions last year. The bureau followed up these children and found that 95 per cent of them made good. There is an excellent field for work of this nature in Lowell where so many of our children do not complete the elementary school course. Apart from the service it would render to

But on the other hand, it is about time that the Englishman awoke to the fact that there is something wrong, radically, fundamentally wrong with his scheme of things; also his womankind would not feel obliged to go about doing deeds of violence. Does it not seem that Sherlock Holmes might unerringly walk up to the weak, bad spot in England's snug complacency, and accomplish its removal without lynching or violence of any kind?

THE ROYAL THEATRE

"War in Mexico," which will be shown at the Royal, at 488 Merrimack street, on Friday and Saturday, is the photographic record of events that happen every day in Mexico. Three reels of descriptive events that surrounded the attack at Vera Cruz, the Mexican troops in action, the American "Jackies" at peace and at war, attacks on land and sea and many other events. Every American will love to see his fighting boys as they look in action and otherwise. Medicinal measures are being taken, and gradually the mind and the understanding will soon be reached, and it is most interesting to see war pictures now than ever.

Besides these three instructive reels of photographic presentation, the show at the Royal for Friday and Saturday will contain many new and attractive features direct from the General Film releases, all first shown in this city, show worth the price, admission along with the big feature advertised. It's always cool and comfortable at this enterprising theatre, and you can rest assured of your money's worth at any time.

CASES IN POLICE COURT

Man Who Attempted Suicide in Court—Woman Held in $500—Young Couple Sentenced

George Fiskejams, the young man of the local police court a man who attempted suicide at his home in Market street about two weeks ago, was released from the Lowell jail yesterday afternoon and when arraigned in police court this forenoon on two complaints charging him with assault with intent to rob and battery, he entered plea of not guilty. At the request of Supt. Welch the case was continued until June 10, when the defendant will be brought into court with his companion, Peter Apostolakos.

Mary Lenehan, who has quite a court record, was ordered committed to jail for four months for drunkenness and appealed. She said that she never appealed from a sentence imposed by a court before in her life but did not want to go to jail again.

Held in $500

Rose Brassard was sentenced to one year in the house of correction at Cambridge by Justice Enright in police court this forenoon for keeping a disorderly house. Through her attorney, Hon. James K. O'Donnell, she appealed and was held in the sum of $500 for her appearance at the next term of superior court.

It will be remembered that the segment of the defendant, located on Hanover street, was taken by the police last Friday evening and as a result, Rose Brassard and Thomas Demetrikas were assigned in the local court Monday forenoon. The latter pleaded guilty to a statutory offense and Miss Brassard asked for a continuance until today.

Sgt. David Petrie was the first witness for the government. He said he had had this house on Hanover street under observation since the 27th day of last April and had seen men varying in numbers from three to 15, enter and leave the house on different evenings. The witness said that on last Friday evening he and several other officers went to the house and found there, the defendant and the young man mentioned. Other people were in the house at the time but they were not arrested as there was no evidence to convict them.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Donnell, the sergeant testified that the evening the raid was made he and Officer Clark stood in the bay window of a new house on Hanover street from 8 till 9 o'clock and saw thirteen men enter the house and saw a few come out. About 9:10 o'clock, claimed the officer, they went to the place in question and were admitted by a woman who spoke French. The sergeant stated that in a part of the house they found the Brassard woman and young Demetrikas.

Special Officer Clark, Patrolman Regan, who watches in the vicinity of Hanover street, and Joseph Fulton, a corporation inspector, all corroborated Sgt. Petrie's testimony.

Miss Brassard offered no defense and the court found her guilty of conducting a disorderly house and ordered her sent to the house of correction for one year.

Unnecessary Noise
For the first time in the history

mer had recently served a jail sentence in New Hampshire for breaking, entering and bresch and that the girl was also implicated in the same thing. The court ordered McAllister sent to the house of correction for six months and the girl to the Lowell jail for the same period. The defendants asked for an opportunity to get married and settle down, but as McAllister is under age and his parents do not consent to him marrying the girl, the sentences were not withdrawn.

VERY BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

WOMAN BADLY HURT ON REVERE BOULEVARD—LOUIS H. WATTS ARRESTED

REVERE, June 4.—Miss Hilda Mugford, aged 25, of Elliot avenue, Revere, and Holger W. Clausen, of 62 Marlboro street, Belmont, were struck by an automobile as they were about to cross the boulevard near the corner of Chester avenue about 10 o'clock.

Miss Mugford received a bad cut over the right eye, a bruise at the base of the skull and it is feared her skull is fractured. Mr. Clausen had his clothes almost torn off, but escaped broken bones. Both were sent to the Massachusetts General hospital where Miss Mugford is on the dangerous list. The automobile was driven by Louis H. Watts, aged 21, of 120 Clark avenue, Chelsea. He claimed that the couple stepped in front of the machine when he was so close that he was unable to stop. He was held by the metropolitan park police on a charge of operating an automobile in a reckless manner.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—In a letter to Senator Lodge yesterday, Asst. Sec. Malburn of the treasury said that an effort would be made by the department to find places in the near future for the five assistant weighers who recently were dropped from the force at the Boston custom house.

Representative Mitchell yesterday took up with Gen. McIntyre, chief of the bureau of Indian affairs, protest from several teachers in Massachusetts against the proposed discontinuance of the 20 per cent reduction in steamship fares, teachers going to Porto Rico having received.

Gen. McIntyre at once got into communication with the steamship companies and has informed Mr. Mitchell that the companies had agreed to continue the reduced rate.

CAPT. CHEAPE, ENGLISH POLO PLAYER,
LOST SISTER IN SEA DISASTER

CAPTAIN CHEAPE

Captain Leslie St. George Cheape, veteran of two international polo matches and who will probably play No. 1 on Baron Wimborne's challengers, is the man most feared by the American team. He is one of the hardest hitters in Great Britain and drives the ball with great accuracy. The fact that both he and Captain Barrett will play together again means trouble, as they are very clever at team work and play a fast, slashing game. The picture shows Cheape just about to mount a pony before practice at Meadowbrook, N. Y. He lost his sister in the great sea disaster in the St. Lawrence when the Empress of Ireland was sunk, and his hardihood has aroused great sympathy and esteem in this country.

MAYTORENA ARRESTED

GOVERNOR OF SONORA REFUSED TO CALL ELECTIONS, ACCORDING TO CONSTITUTIONALIST FACTION

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 4. Gov. Jose Maytorena of Sonora is under arrest at Hermosillo, held a close prisoner by the military according to unconfirmed reports reaching here yesterday. The governor has been denounced by the opposition as being dictatorial.

Constitutionalists allied with the Pesquera faction say the fued is not between Maytorena and the military, but between Maytorena and the people of the state.

Public meetings have been held in several of the Sonora border towns during the last several days. It is stated, in which resolutions were adopted requesting Maytorena to call for the election of a state chamber of deputies.

When the terms of the members of the last state congress expired about a year ago Maytorena refused to call an election until the state was fully pacified.

The governor has not yet complied with the demands made by the border towns. Constitutionalists in Agua Prieta say that unless he calls elections of his own volition he will be forced to call them.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

MERRIMACK RIVER FUTURE

The vote on the bill to appropriate one million dollars as the share of the state in the preliminary cost of making the Merrimack river navigable as taken in the house of representatives has two features especially gratifying to friends of the project. One is the considerable amount of opposition manifested and the other is the intelligent hearing that preceded the vote. It is difficult to conceive of any other measure of such magnitude being supported with less adverse comment, and even the opposing views of Rep. Washburn were not based on alleged misstatements. Mr. Washburn contended that a larger appropriation for the Merrimack river was not necessary in the eastern part of the state in the expense of other sections. There is nothing in his argument calculated to give serious moments to friends of Merrimack river navigation, whether in the legislative or out of it.

Representative Essex S. Abbott of Worcester emphasized a good point in favor of the appropriation when he said that throughout the Merrimack valley there is practically no opposition to the improvement. Some indifference there is indeed, as is to be expected from the public in all such matters, but there is passive support in abundance of which the house had a telling sample. The cost, according to Rep. Abbott, will be considerable, but the people of the region affected will not complain, realizing that the benefits to industry will not be long in overbalancing the preliminary expense.

Representative Kenney of Boston who as one of the ways and means committee had occasion to look at the matter from all angles before he espoused the appropriation made a strong argument on the broad assumption that Massachusetts has done practically nothing to improve its waterways while other states are outstripping us continually. With tables of statistics and convincing figures he backed up his contention with other state records of expenditures besides the location of several industries, the board of trade has been instrumental in arousing an intelligent understanding of many other progressive movements locally during the year past. The housing of the railroad employee, the abolition of the Middlesex grade crossing, the development of the Merrimack river, the visit of the underwriters' committee, the many important meetings addressed by experts in finance, business, municipal government and all forms of efficiency give a fair expression of the great work accomplished. Besides all these there are a thousand and one details connected with the conduct of such an industrial centre along the banks. If only the excessive cost of coal transportation to Lowell as compiled even by business and civic bodies were arrayed against the benefits no one derived from the great engineering effort, the argument would be too much the stronger.

Now with the almost unanimous approval of the lower body the appropriation bill goes to the senate for its approval—which approval it will in all probability receive if the legislators of the Merrimack valley rally to the support of the bill. Some people are urging caution basing their stand on the lack of convincing evidence to prove that the scheme will be in reality a benefit of sufficient magnitude to overbalance the cost. There is little cause for worry on this score, for the test will come in the proposed federal appropriation. Government experts have been making economies and savings for years, and before the many millions are set apart to aid Massachusetts, Washington will have to be convinced that the plan is not that of an impractical visionary. It is the best interest of Massachusetts to appropriate the million required, for the cause has not hitherto seemed so imperious.

POSTAGE RATES

As the result of the nation-wide campaign for lower letter postage rates, the Boston chamber of commerce recently named a special committee to study the question in all its phases and to include its views in recommendations made to the chamber. The report of the committee has just been made public with the endorsement of the chamber.

This report has some hope to offer those not too well off in the publication expenses of those who have departed the lower rates. The principle of the lower rate is admitted to be sound but the uncertainty of impairment of service is the stumbling block which prevents the Boston body from supporting the innovation without more definite information in the words of the chamber of commerce:

EXPECT ANSWER FROM GEN. CARRANZA TODAY

Upon His Message Hangs Immediate Scope of Diplomatic Endeavor to Bring Order Out of Chaos in Mexico —Mediators Resume Conference

WASHINGTON. June 4.—Carranza loomed today as the crus in the mediation situation. Upon his message to the South American envoys hung the immediate scope of diplomatic endeavor to bring order out of chaos in Mexico.

Administration chiefs were hopeful here with any blockade by Huerta that the way might be cleared for the constitutionalists to enter the conference so that all of the elements now figuring in the southern republic might be brought together to discuss terms of restoring peace.

Secretary Bryan reiterated that mediation was "progressing favorably." Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department was to take up with Carranza whether he would send delegates to the conferences here, the mediators planned today to continue such work as would not be affected by the constitutionalist answer.

The peace plan on which the two to send federal gunboats to Tampico to halt shipments of arms for the sets of delegates have been working constitutionalists said to be en route for two weeks has been only partially completed. Much of the work will be stand that no orders had been sent to the constitutionalists to decide to enter the negotiations. The PAST PRESIDENTS, A.O.H.

FORMED SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL PURPOSES—LOWELL MEN ENROLLED

A short time ago some of the leading Hibernians in this section of the country conceived the idea of forming a Past Presidents' organization, including in membership all who have at one time or another served in the capacity of president of any division. Accordingly such an association was founded, and is making great strides. Its object is purely social, its founders aiming at creating a feeling of good fellowship among the heads of the order, thus keeping the mass of Hibernians in all sections of the country in touch with each other. Though yet in its infancy, such an organization may eventually be a great power in Irish and particularly in Hibernian circles.

Last Sunday a largely attended meeting was held in Hibernian hall, this city, for the purpose of enrolling the presidents of the local divisions in the organization. Many prominent Hibernians from all over the state were present and throughout the afternoon matters of great interest in Hibernian circles were discussed.

The meeting was called to order by President P. H. Conlan, Past-President. He was followed in the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Thomas J. Kelly of Watertown, who was detained by illness. His family, John P. Sheahan, president of Division 2, this city, was elected temporary secretary. The first business transacted was the election of officers. It seemed to be the unanimous wish of all present that Daniel J. Murphy of Lowell should assume the office of president, but he declined. James O'Sullivan of this city and several others also were nominated, but they declared that the affairs of the body are in excellent hands and declined the honor in grateful speeches. Accordingly the present officers were then elected unanimously. Besides the president and secretary-treasurer, before mentioned, there is also a vice-president, Daniel O'Connell, of Div. 35 Newton.

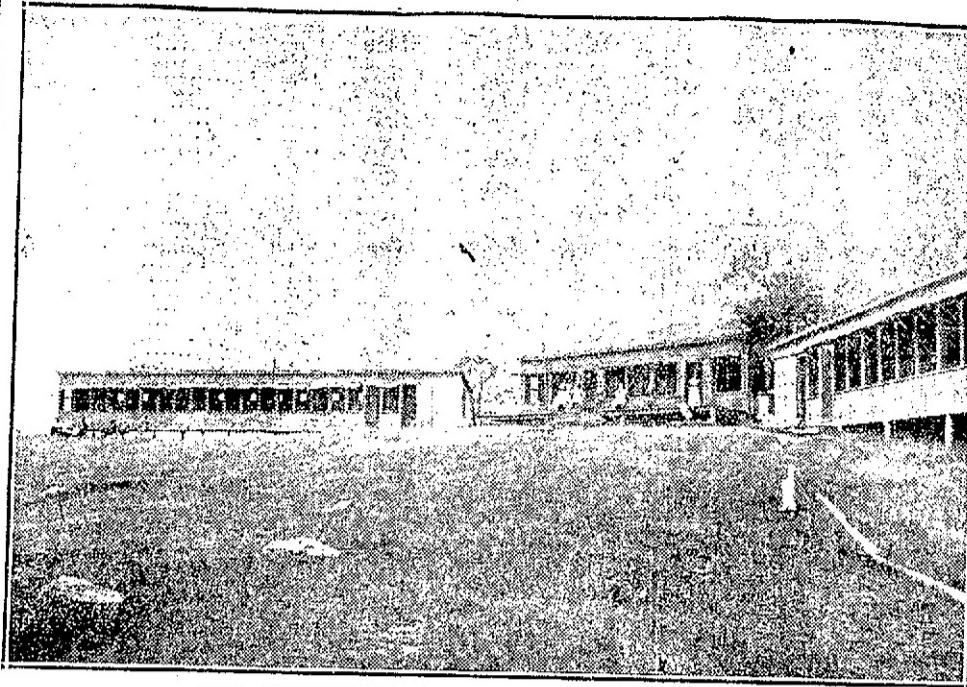

It was voted to hold the annual banquet in the future on the Sunday nearest the anniversary of Roger Emory instead of in May as formerly. At the meeting it was decided to present the election of officers to the public at the annual meeting of the Past Presidents' organization which will be held on June 1. Murphy of Lowell will again assume the office of president, but he declined. James O'Sullivan of this city and several others also were nominated, but they declared that the affairs of the body are in excellent hands and declined the honor in grateful speeches. Accordingly the present officers were then elected unanimously. Besides the president and secretary-treasurer, before mentioned, there is also a vice-president, Daniel O'Connell, of Div. 35 Newton.

Quite a number of persons took the examinations held during the past week. Some were found not to have tuberculosis in any form. These were not granted admission and some others were considered to be in too advanced stages of the disease.

EMPEROR SURVIVOR TALKS

CLAYTON H. BURT SAYS HE PUT LIFE PRESERVER ON MRS. IRVING

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 4.—I myself put a life preserver on Mabel Ulrich, the wife of Laurence Irving, the English actor, just before she sank to death with her husband," said Clayton H. Burt of Toronto, Canada, one of the survivors of the Empress of Ireland in an interview yesterday in this city.

Mr. Burt was in the first train load of survivors to reach Quebec from Montreal. He immediately went to Johnson, Vt., to the home of his mother, where his wife, a former Providence girl, met him. He came to Providence to leave his wife with her mother, and today he will start again for England.

Mr. Burt says he spent an hour and a half with the frivous strolling the promenade deck of the Empress of Ireland, the night before she went down. He ran into them again a few hours later, after the Empress had been rammed by the Storstad, helped them into life preservers and himself put a preserver on Mrs. Irving, who was, he says, half mad with fear.

"After I had the preserver on Mrs. Irving, whom Irving had to hold so I could fasten it, he and I started to put on preserves, and saw him putting on his, and I had mine all on but his fastened, when the steamer seemed to break amiss and I went down—it seemed as if I sank into the water to 10 feet. I never saw the Irvings again."

Burt was awakened when the ship collided by a plate falling on his head from the top of his wardrobe. He pulled on his trousers, put on an overcoat, and got his watch and money before he left the state room. He saved both watch and money.

Mr. Burt is a mechanical engineer now with a firm in Toronto, Can. He was formerly with the Brown and Sharp Co. in Providence for 14 years.

New goods are arriving daily at Gilbride's.

Mrs. J. B. Field and an efficient committee.

There was a fine entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Clarence W. Hoyt. It opened with a series of four tableaux: "Sunrise, Noon, Sunset and Midnight," posed by Genevieve Bowditch. Then came "Little Boy Blue" by Major Clarence Hoyt.

"The Sweet Family," a clever comedy sketch was presented with the following cast: "Ma Sweet," Mrs. C. W. Hoyt; "Arminda Ann," Bebbie Adams; "Felicita Balilda," Marian Mcasters; "Caroline Pordella," Ethel Kimball; "Dorothy Dellah," Ruth Bradley; "Elizabeth Eliza," Louise Rogers; "Frances Frederica," Irene Cockerline. These young women presented a highly humorous program of songs, recitations and other stunts that received hearty applause.

The entertainment concluded with tableaux in which Mrs. Hoyt, Percy McMaster, George Williams, Donald Isham and others appeared. During the performance there was music by Cushman's orchestra.

DR. A. J. GAGNON

Discusses the cause, effect and cure of the most destructive of all dental diseases, PYORRHEA or RIGGS DISEASE. A series of continued talks appearing in this newspaper—follow it daily as it will be greatly to your advantage if you are a sufferer of mouth, teeth or gum trouble of any description.

TODAY'S TALK

Symptoms of Pyorrhea or Riggs Disease

Read the following and determine how far the disease has advanced in your case.

BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhea usually manifests itself first by a slight reddening of the gums at the margins, and a tendency to bleed more or less freely upon the slightest provocation. Those who notice such indications can safely conclude that Pyorrhea has attacked them.

SENSITIVE TEETH

When teeth reach the stage where they exhibit sensitiveness to heat or cold—that is when hot or cold foods or quick changes from warm to cool air, put them "on edge" and make them ache; or when sweet or sour affect them Pyorrhea is a safe diagnosis if there is no decay.

TARTAR

The appearance of tartar on the teeth is always an indication that something is wrong. In most cases it is the result of systemic conditions which also cause Pyorrhea.

INFLAMED GUMS

In the very first stages of Pyorrhea the gums become inflamed and discolored. As the disease increases in severity the inflammation and discoloration become more marked. Inflamed gums are an almost certain evidence of the presence of Pyorrhea, or a condition that if neglected will lead to Pyorrhea.

RECEDING GUMS

The popular conception of Pyorrhea is that it is a disease always accompanied by receding of the gums. This idea has much ground to stand on, for Pyorrhea is always manifested by receding gums.

MATTER AROUND THE TEETH

The sticky, foul-smelling substance which collects around the teeth and eats away tissues until it reaches the bone of the jaw is commonly called "matter," but this offensive, destructive formation indicates that the bony structure forming the socket has been attacked and is being slowly but surely eaten away by pus bacteria. It is from that the disease receives its name Pyorrhea, meaning pus flow.

EXUDATION OF PUS

The gums never exude pus unless there is something seriously wrong. It is safe to determine that Pyorrhea exists where this condition presents itself. The terrible consequences of pus discharges are not alone the loss of the teeth, but the constant swallowing of the poisonous matter spreads destructive germs to every part of the body.

In next Tuesday's talk I will define some of the symptoms of Pyorrhea in its advanced stages.

DR. GAGNON'S SPECIAL METHOD OF TREATING PYORRHEA OR RIGGS DISEASE IS BOTH PAINLESS AND INEXPENSIVE.

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR PATTERSON RUBBER CO.

Direct Control Passes Into Hands of Messrs. Macdonald and John L. Morse—Prospect for Coming Season is Quite Encouraging

Announcement was made today that the Patterson Rubber Co., whose plant is located on upper Middlesex street has been reorganized and that the former president, John S. Patterson, and vice president, James M. Patterson, have resigned and sold out their holdings in the company.

Walter N. Macdonald and John L. Morse are the two men now in charge of the concern, the former in the capacity of factory manager and the latter as treasurer of the company. There were originally five men who organized the Patterson Rubber Co., John S. and James M. Patterson, F. H. Appleton, Jr., F. H. Appleton, Jr., and Geo. F. S. Singleton. The last three mentioned still possess an interest in the firm although they are not connected with its active management.

In an interview given to a Sun reporter this noon, Messrs. Macdonald and Morse spoke very optimistically of the prospects of the concern under its new organization and management. "There will be no change in our facstructions: "Are you in favor of applying the civil service to all municipal employees? Make cross in square expressing your choice."

Major Murphy decided that it was not necessary to have the men sign their names as the cross in the yes or no square would suffice the same purpose. A seal-ballot is marked, the envelope containing it will be sealed and all of the envelopes will be deposited with the city treasurer until the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday, when a committee of two will be appointed to open them.

Edward J. Tierney, counsel for the men who petitioned to have the city laborers placed under civil service, objects to the secret ballot process and declares that it is absolutely unfair. He says that such a vote should not be taken at a time when the payrolls of the city are crowded with temporary workers, many of whom have been hired for political reasons, and when many permanent employees have been discharged for political reasons. He maintains that unless the vote is submitted and determined at the best of good faith, the result is predetermined, and the whole procedure a farce, which will deceive nobody.

Tierney Sends Letter

Mr. Tierney has addressed the following letter to the mayor and members of the municipal council:

To the Mayor and Members of the Municipal Council, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: I see in the evening paper that you have determined to take a vote of the municipal employees before deciding what disposition you will make of the petition previously asking that the municipal labor of the city be placed under the provisions of the civil service laws. I am very

SUBMARINE TELEPHONY

Carried Voice Under Sea at Boston Lightship

Wonderful Discovery Demonstrated for the First Time

BOSTON, June 4.—Submarine wireless telephony and telegraphy are accomplished facts and were yesterday publicly demonstrated for the first time. Conversation between men stationed on boats moored 150 feet away at the Boston lightship was carried on with natural ease and in ordinary tones and messages in the Morse code were transmitted without interruption between the same craft separated one, five and ten miles on the surface of a choppy sea. These tests were made in the presence of a group of newspaper men and other observers.

The plant is now running on the same schedule on which it began business last July but from all indications it will not long before their present quarters will have to be enlarged. The capacity of their present factory will turn out somewhere in the neighborhood of two hundred three-millimeter but a steady increasing demand for the equipment will probably eventually result in an enlargement of the plant.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders next Wednesday when several matters of importance will be taken up.

With the story of the sinking of the Empress of Ireland not yet fully told and memories of the Titanic disaster two years ago still fresh in their minds, the men who yesterday saw these wonders of submarine communication take place under their own eyes and heard them through their own ears expressed the thought that had either of those ill-fated ships been equipped with the apparatus of this newest safeguard against marine disaster, the fearful losses of life that resulted from their sinking could not have occurred.

For not only does this new marvel make it a practical thing to easily and surely communicate between ships that are connected only by the waters upon which they are sailing, but it provides a means by which the depth of water under them can be exactly determined and the distance and location of an unseen iceberg known accurately known aboard a ship within the danger zone.

I assume that you intend to vote about to be taken before this late day, when the pay roll of the city is crowded with temporary workers, many of whom have been hired for political reasons, and when many former permanent employees have been discharged, some of them at least, for political reasons.

I assume that you intend to vote about to be taken before this late day, when the pay roll of the city is crowded with temporary workers, many of whom have been hired for political reasons, and when many permanent employees have been discharged for political reasons. He maintains that unless the vote is submitted and determined at the best of good faith, the result is predetermined, and the whole procedure a farce, which will deceive nobody.

They Didn't Come Back
The city hall men, including Commissioners Brown, Cavanaugh, Morris and Donnelly, Fire Chief Saunders, City Solicitor Hennessy and Purchasing Agent Foye, who went off on a tour to Springfield and other places, in two automobiles, yesterday, had not put in an appearance at city hall up to the noon hour today, but it was stated at the hall that they are expected back this afternoon.

Major Murphy stated this morning that he didn't know much about the trip except that he understood each man would pay his own expenses. This would make it a sort of "Dutch treat" and the city is losing nothing except representation in certain departments and when it comes to service as it is rendered at city hall the question resembles very much the across-the-table conversation. A good deal can be said on both sides.

The mayor, by the way, seemed to feel that the Lowell men would visit Worcester as well as Springfield. The mayor says there is a lot of practice school to be done in Worcester, and he thinks he heard his colleagues say something about visiting it. There is possibility, too, that Mr. Brown will escort the party to Holyoke and show them how beautifully that city is lighted by a municipal plant. After returning from his trip to Fall River, New Bedford, Springfield and Holyoke in company with the assessors, a few months ago, Mr. Brown wanted his colleagues on the board to take over the electric light plant in this city and in order to influence them in such action he wanted to take them to Holyoke and show them how well the municipal lighting scheme works in that city. It was stated this morning that the men went out to secure swan boats for Park Commissioner Carr to operate on the South common pool July 4, but a denial of this report came from the mayor.

CRUISER BROOKLYN TO SAIL

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The cruiser Brooklyn, which has been stationed at the local navy yard for nearly ten years and which at one time was ordered to the scrap heap, will sail for China to take her place as flagship of the Asiatic squadron.

The Brooklyn was Admiral Schley's flagship during the Spanish-American war and led the fighting when the Spanish fleet was destroyed at Santiago. The ship was struck about twenty times by shells and her sides still show where the blows were received.

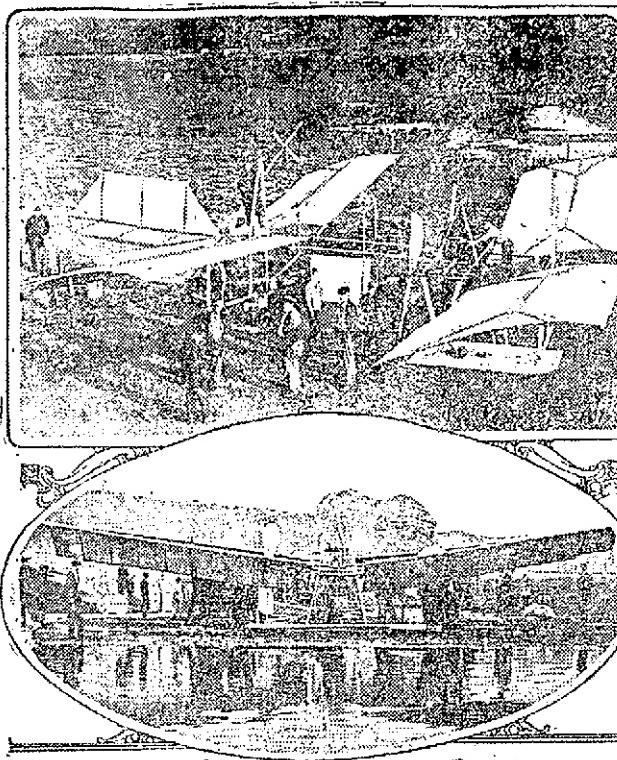

Several years after the war the vessel was sent to the Philadelphia navy yard where she was put out of commission. About a year ago work was begun on the vessel and she was completely overhauled.

City Messenger Moanahan has not shown up at city hall since the party set sail for Springfield, but his assistants at the hall declare that Owen did not go to Springfield. Mr. Owen, the elevator man at the hall, thinks that the city messenger went to Salem to visit his old friend, Mayor Hurley, at Park Commissioner.

Clarence R. Weed of the State Normal school can have Dr. Mignault's place on the park board if he wants it and so far as experience is concerned it would mean a good change for the city, as Mr. Weed is a recognized botanist. Of course it is the duty of the park department to keep down the weeds, but this is a good Weed. Exchanging Dr. Mignault for Mr. Weed may not be exactly a case of plucking a thistle and planting a rose, but inasmuch as Mr. Weed knows more about roses and thistles than the doctor, the change cannot be but for the betterment of the department and persons interested in the park and playground work will do all they can to have Mr. Weed accept the position.

Major Murphy said today that he would vote for Mr. Weed and he believes that other members of the council will vote for him when they hear of his qualifications. "I wouldn't know Mr. Weed if he came in here this minute," said the mayor, "but I am going to have a talk with him. I will vote for him if he will consent to allow his name to be presented, because I think he would

"White Wolf," the Chinese Brigand, and His Followers Looting and Burning Towns in Province of Kan-Su—Fled to Mountains

PEKIN, China, June 4.—"White Wolf," the Chinese brigand who during the past few months has devastated the provinces of Hu-Peh, Ho-Nan and Shen-Su, is now looting and burning towns and villages in the provinces of Man-Su.

After eluding the troops sent to capture him by the Chinese government yesterday set fire to the town of Ning-Chow and his followers today attacked Tao Chow in the extreme south of the province, and after placing the inhabitants burned it to the ground.

The brigands then proceeded to Cho-Ni, where they set fire to the famous monastery of the Tibetan Lamas.

Subsequently a column of regular troops overtook and defeated the bandits, who fled to the ravines of Li-Yi mountain, 100 miles to the south of Lanchow, where they are reported to be virtually surrounded by troops.

HOME FOR LEOPERS MURDER OF H.W. PEASLEE

DETECTIVE DEMANDS ARREST OF TWO PERSONS—TO OPEN PEASLEE SAFE TODAY

HENNIKER, N. H., June 4.—A demand for the arrest of two other persons for the murder of Howard W. Peaslee, the local toy maker, was made yesterday by A. H. Barrett, a Boston detective, employed by the murdered man's son, Shirley H. Peaslee.

It is believed that the arrests will be made today.

Detectives have been working day and night for the last week, but yesterday Detective Barrett called upon the selection and told them that he was sure that there was enough evidence to warrant the arrest of two more persons in connection with the murder for which Eugene Wood, a farm hand, is now under arrest.

The selection held a meeting yesterday to discuss the Peaslee case. After a conference with the state officers, it is believed that the local officers will make the arrests demanded by the detective.

The combination for the Peaslee safe will arrive here from Boston today and the safe will be opened. It is thought that the murderer had his will in the safe. Other valuable documents are also believed to be in the safe.

A FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT

RIOT IN STREET IN MANCHESTER FOLLOWED ARGUMENT IN SALOON—FOUR ARRESTED

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 4.—A free-for-all street riot was broken up by the police last night after three of the fighters at least had drawn knives and were about to use them. Four arrests were made, the prisoners being booked for fighting in the public streets.

The trouble began at Amherst and Chestnut streets just after the saloons closed at 10 o'clock, as the result of an argument. The four men arrested were Jacob Grzyb, Joseph Dobcek, Michael Zavutone and Wenzel Isek. The police detail, which mixed into the middle of the general melee, was headed by Sergeant John Lynch.

MAN WHO LOST BOTH ARMS SIX YEARS AGO HAS MASTERED STENOGRAPHY

BALTIMORE, Md., June 4.—Though both arms were severed within three inches of the shoulder, six years ago, David T. Jones of this city has mastered stenography. With the aid of several rubber bands to fasten a pen to his prosthesis to the right arm he is able to write in an exceptionally neat manner.

Jones, who is 35 years old, met with the accident which necessitated amputation of both arms while he was working on a steel structure. Afterwards he became an insurance reader and his intention is to make use of stenography in rough drafting literary articles.

In reading Jones' news I am compelled to read the pages but he has acquiredexterity in manipulating the pen and experiences little inconvenience.

MILITANTS NEW SCHEME PRES. SULLIVAN RING BEATEN BY LEWISTON

Sylvia Pankhurst to Fast on Steps of House of Commons Until the Suffragettes See Premier

LONDON, June 4.—"I will lie on the steps of the house of commons without food or water until Asquith consents to receive a deputation."

This threat was uttered by Sylvia Pankhurst at a meeting at Limehouse last night, and she declared she would carry it into effect should the suffragettes fail in their endeavor to see the prime minister on June 10.

The other speeches at the same meeting breathed defiance to the Liberal government, which was denounced as alone responsible for militancy, and suggestions of wholesale incendiarism were made.

Two young suffragettes yesterday waylaid and horsewhipped Dr. F. E. Forward, deputy governor of Holloway jail, outside the prison. They lashed him many times before a policeman rescued him and arrested his assailants.

It was the second time Dr. Forward has been whipped by militants outside of Holloway. He is in charge of the medical work of the prison and the suffragettes blame him for the forcible feeding of women prisoners.

An attendant in the Dore gallery, on Bond street, was seriously hurt by another militant this afternoon who succeeded in smashing two paintings by Earlefield, southwest of London.

The woman, who refused to give her name when eventually arrested, used a hatchet to hack the pictures, and when the attendant sought to disarm her, turned the weapon on him, furiously beating him on the head. The woman was finally surrounded and overcome after a bitter fight.

A letter was left in the Dore gallery by the assailant, in which she said:

"To stop this you must give us justice. We are willing to die for it before we give in. We have tried all other ways. We have been too lady-like in the past. Now we are going to fight, and you can allow us to be killed. Others will arise to take our places. I have joined in the war."

One of the pictures destroyed was "Love Wounded," a priceless engraving by Bartolozzi.

The hatchet-wielding suffragette was later arraigned and held for trial. It was stated that she had done $1250 damage to the paintings. Cecil Bourlet, manager of the Dore galleries, whom the woman attacked, was cut on the hands and arms, but not seriously injured.

An "arson squad" of suffragettes during the night set fire to and destroyed a large cricket pavilion at Earlefield, southwest of London.

Head of Bay State St. Ry. Sees no Reason for 5 Cent Fare

way company, speaking before members of the United Improvement association at the Boston City club last evening, declared that 26 street railway companies in this state paid no dividends last year and that all are facing a serious situation.

This, he said, is due to two causes, the first being that nearly every company was built in unprofitable territory, some of which would not pay if the fare were increased to 10 cents, the second the 5-cent fare unit, with privileges of transfer, which he characterized as one of the greatest fallacies of the business.

"It is safe to say," began Mr. Sullivan, "that transportation today is the lowest element in the so-called high cost of living. Transportation, particularly in street railways, has decreased in cost. Since they are tied up with the public interest their capital has passed from the control of the investors. It is loaned upon differently from capital invested in private enterprises. There is no reason why there should be a difference in attitude. Because of it street railway companies find it difficult to get money for essential improvements."

He said that street railways in this state have taken no account of deprecation but now the public service commission insists that it must be charged to accounts.

"If the street railways of this state as a whole had charged 3 per cent of their physical value to expense it would have amounted to $5,380,000," he said. "The net earnings last year were a little over $6,000,000. It would have wiped out every dollar of net earnings. When depreciation is charged in there will have to be an increase in rates of fare, or the companies will face a serious condition."

Declaring the 5-cent unit was made in the early days of short rides and light expenses, he said there is no basis for it today except the fact that 5 cents is a convenient coin.

He praised the courage of the men who put their money into Boston Electric in the beginning, and said the capitalization of street railways has to be absolutely honest today. He said these men would have made more money by putting their money in savings banks.

"The system was forced to take on subways and tunnels, not properly planned," he continued. "And there could be better results today in Boston if it were to be done now for about 10 per cent of the original investment, in my opinion."

Dr. E. M. Bassall spoke on "City

Upbuilding."

The association went on record as favoring, in the event of the Boston city charter again being submitted to the people, the form of referendum drawn up by Corporation Counsel Sullivan, making clearer to the voters the exact intent of the amending act.

Pres. Benjamin C. Lane was in the chair.

See you at Eldora's tonight, Billerica.

DAYTON, O., June 4.—Arthur Fowler, a British subject, adjudged guilty yesterday of the murder of John Deans, was found dead in the county jail early today. Fowler had secured a strap and had hanged himself to the bars in his cell.

On account of the bad condition of the body which probably spent several days in the water and also for the fact that the remains could not be embalmed, the undertaker decided to bury the body yesterday afternoon.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Joe Chick and Bill Fleming have been matched to meet in a fifteen round fray at Marieville, R. I., on next Monday night. These two fighters should give the fans of that town a run for their money for both men are rugged performers who prefer to mix it rather than box.

Battling Levinsky is not all in yet by any means as a drawing card as his recent bout with Jack Dillon in Indianapolis testified to. Each glove artist is said to have pulled down the net sum of $340 for their mousing ability.

When Freddie Welsh and Johnny Dundee could not draw $1500 in their Metropolitan go, how is it that Dundee figures himself at such a high figure for a Boston ring? He has been foiled once when he tried to hockle the management into jumping for his services and should have learned a lesson thereby. The Atlas couldn't afford any wild figures for a bout between Dundee and Johnny Gallant.

Champion Willie Richie's beating by Charley White did him more damage than was at first supposed. By damage we mean financial detriment for Richie is more careful of his pocket-book than he is of his health. The English promoters who at first offered him $40,000 for a bout in London with Freddie Welsh have now cut that figure in half and stated that they won't raise it. If they don't you can go bet that there won't be any battle.

There is some talk of Mike Gibbons meeting Kid Graves in a Rhode Island ring within the next two weeks but it may be all talk. Certain it is that Michael will have to be shown the real long green before he consents to get in shape for a bout. The promoter could find many easier opponents for the St. Paul Gallant.

Young Grindall of Newark and Willie Beecher will meet at one of the larger Jersey clubs on next Wednesday in a fifteen round scrap. Deacher is the boxer who stopped Fred Halsband of England in four rounds in New York Saturday. Eddie Flynn of Prabody fought Young Grindall a draw at New London Tuesday night.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Speraw, playing third base for Brockton and Barry, Taunton's backstop, are both going steady in the Colonial league. Manager Gray has no string on them now, however, for the Class B club has no option over a bad player associated with organized ball.

The greatest disappointment in the Lewiston team has been Radoff, of whom so much was expected. It is not so much that Radoff has not won as the general impression that exists as to his work. It is felt that he is not satisfied to play in the New England league and that he is not much concerned whether he wins or not. This is probably not true. It is more likely that what seems to be indifference or discontent is a manner or a habit. It would certainly seem that losing games in a minor league was a poor way to demonstrate fitness for the Red Sox. One thing is sure—if the young man can pitch at all, or ever did pitch, it is about time to show the goods. —Ex-Change.

Yes, friends, there are disappointments in even big league castoffs.

KANSAS CITY, June 4.—An opinion by the court of appeals which yesterday awarded Charles A. Edling, a lawyer, $3500 for being hit on the nose by a foul ball while watching an American Association game, has been said:

"If the Kansas City Blues had kept their eyes on the ball with the accuracy that they contend Edling should have exhibited, they would have attained a higher place in the pennant race."

The accident to Edling's nose occurred in 1911. The ball hit him after breaking through a wire netting. He obtained a judgment of $3500. The club-owners appealed, contending he either should have caught the ball or dodged it.

Manager Patsy Flaherty of the Lynn club has signed up a left handed pitcher who may get into one of the games this week. Flaherty may use him against Fitchburg either tomorrow or Thursday. He is Dominick Carlo, recently the property of Daniel Clocommittees. They went and found Rickey, loaded him on their shoulders, carried him to the clubhouse, deposited him in a swivel chair with this admonition: "There's where you belong." The meeting was held as per schedule. Owner Hedges allows that Rickey is the best manager he ever had. He ranks Jim McAfee as the second-best tender, but believes Rickey is the Moises who will lead the Browns out of the bushes of last place.

Once more Lawrence has been made the goat and it is time that Secretary Arthur D. Cooper of the New England league handed in his resignation and gave the job to a live man.

For two days in succession Lawrence has been given a shut eye by the umpire and while possibly the result of either game did not hinge on the umpire's work still it is a well-established fact among baseball fans that a poor umpire is better any day in the week than a player-umpire.

Aleck Pearson has been doing the job the last two days and his anxiety to do justice to the visitors and the thought partial by the fans has made him give some decisions that were particularly bad. Far be it from us to question Aleck's honesty for the very fact that Lake allowed him to umpire the game alone Monday shows how the old veteran stands, but he is too conscientious.

Cooper should have umpires at every game or know the reason why and while there may be an excuse on one day there is no reason why it should happen two days in succession and Manager Pieper is justified in making a strenuous kick and the fans are also entitled to some consideration.

Secretary Cooper as four regular umpires, Doherty, Bannon, Hardy and Black and they are all rather bad. Good men could be secured for the money paid by Cooper and when we go back to the days of Rorty, Stanford, Buckley and even Lanigan we hold up our hands in horror at the present array.

Young Grindall of Newark and Willie Beecher will meet at one of the larger Jersey clubs on next Wednesday in a fifteen round scrap. Deacher is the boxer who stopped Fred Halsband of England in four rounds in New York Saturday. Eddie Flynn of Prabody fought Young Grindall a draw at New London Tuesday night.
